Toll 182, Biden vows to avenge

There was 1 suicide bomber, not 2, says Pentagon; evacuation ops continue at Kabul airport

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AT least 182 people were reportedly killed in Thursday's Kabul terror attack and the tally could go up as many dismembered bodies are yet to be accounted for. Local health officials, quoted by news agency AP, said 169 Afghans were killed. This is over and above the 13 US military personnel died in the attack. The Wazir Akbar Khan Hospital in central Kabul alone received 145 bodies. At least 200 people were reportedly injured in the attack.

Meanwhile, the Pentagon on Friday clarified that the Kabul airport explosion was by a single suicide bomber and that there was no blast near the Baron hotel. "We do not believe there was a second explosion. We felt it was important to correct the record," said US Army Major General William Taylor.

US forces on the ground are on alert with fresh intelligence inputs suggesting more attacks. US Central Command chief General Frank McKenzie said there could be rockets or car bombs targeting the airport.

Earlier in the day, US President Joe Biden vowed to avenge the deaths of Americans. Blaming the lesser known ISIS-K for the attack, Biden said, "We will not forgive. We will not forget. We will hunt you down and make you pay."

INDIANS IN AF

Most Indians who wanted to return have been evacuated, MEA said on Friday. There could be a few still stranded in the war-torn country, but the exact number is unknown, it added | P9

Despite the attack, the US continued its evacuation operation at the Kabul airport on Friday. In an early-morning update, the White House said 12,500 people were evacuated in the previous 24 hours, taking the total number of people airlifted abroad since August 14 rose to 105,000.

The UN Security Council, currently being presided over by India, on Friday condemned the Kabul terror strike, adding that the world needs to unite against those who provide sacturies to terrorists. P11

NEP makes Kannada must for first 2 years of degree courses

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KANNADA has been made compulsory as one of the two languages to be taught in the first two years of undergraduation under the National Education Policy-2020 (NEP-2020), while the Higher Education Department said functional Kannada will be taught to students who do not know Kannada. This will include students of foreign nationalities as well.

Kannada will be one of the two languages that students will learn for the first four semesters of the course, said Pradeep P, commissioner of Higher Education.

Functional Kannada will include basic communication skills for students to interact in the language, besides basic understanding of the alphabets, he said.

The model is being replicated from the Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU), where non-Kannadiga students from first-year engineering — or students who do not know Kannada at all — are given training in functional Kannada, he said.

While students remained confused about the admission process, Pradeep said that the admission module under the Unified University and College Management System (UUCMS) model has been launched this year and the process has been taken offline to allow students to be guided by respective colleges on choosing two core subjects and one open elective.

Draft legislation process is on

Commissioner of Higher Education Pradeep P said draft legislation is in progress for implementation of four verticals, which also include legislation and grants. However, central legislation is also awaited, based on which the state legislation will be structured. Pradeep said universities can make academic changes through regulations.

All classrooms to go 'smart' by yr-end

In a bid to bridge the digital divide, the state's Higher Education Department is looking at establishing 100 per cent smart classrooms by this year-end. Already, 2,500 out of 9,000 classrooms have been made high-tech. Commissioner of Higher Education Pradeep P said the department is talking to the government for funding. Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan said students are being provided with gadgets and institutes have been asked to have internet facilities

Baghel gets a Priyanka lifeline till UP elections

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

CHHATTISGARH Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel will retain his seat for now though the power tussle in the state is far from over. After a three-hour long meeting with former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi and party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Baghel said: "I have told Rahul Gandhi my dil ki baat (heart's desire). He is coming to Chhattisgarh next week and will visit Bastar to see the work done by the government."

Sources said the decision came after Priyanka backed Baghel, an OBC leader, while Rahul insisted that he abide by the promise made to T S Singh Deo. A senior party leader said Priyanka was of the view that changing Baghel just ahead of the crucial Assembly elections, especially Uttar Pradesh, will not go down well with the backward class vote bank.

Flanked by party incharge for the state P L Punia, Baghel did not give a direct response to the claim of rotational CM by his cabinet colleague Deo.

"The problem is not over yet and the party would have to address Deo's concerns. Rahul ji's proposed visit needs to be also looked at from that perspective," said a state party leader.

In a show of strength, Baghel came to Delhi with over 50 MLAs and met Congress leaders K C Venugopal and Punia.

Model curriculum to be out in Sept first week

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @Benglauru

DAYS after the government rolled out the National Education Policy-2020 (NEP-2020) to first-year undergraduate students on August 23, the higher education department is planning to roll out the model curriculum under the policy. Commissioner of Higher Education Pradeep P said the model curriculum will be made public in the first week of September.

Efforts are on to give shape to a curriculum that helps build a well-rounded personality, develop the creative potential of each individual, foundational and higher-order capabilities, and enhance skills and abilities. Thirty-five sub-committees have been formed, headed by vice-chancellors of various universities with subject experts among their members. Pradeep said the new model curriculum will deviate just about 10-15 percent from the present one. He said skill and ability courses are being structured and will also be added to the curriculum. These will be courses like digital fluency, Artificial Intelligence, Cybersecurity, new technological developments and financial literacy. P2

Police suspect four engg students in gangrape case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

THE police, investigating the gangrape of a girl student in the city, suspect the involvement of four engineering students, who are from Kerala and Tamil Nadu, sources said. Police teams have been dispatched to nab the culprits, who are said to be on the run somewhere in the two neighbouring states, highly placed sources said. A special investigation team zeroed in on the students after collecting technical and other vital evidence.

The police suspect the involvement of these students as the cell phone tower data indicated that they were at the spot at the time of the crime. When the police checked with the college where the accused are studying, it was found that they have remained absent from college and have not taken the exams since Wednesday. Meanwhile, Karnataka DG&IGP Praveen Sood, who rushed from New Delhi to Mysuru, said, "We want to give enough space to the victim to return to normal. We are hopeful of her cooperation with the investigation once she is out of trauma." REPORTS: P4

A detailed order specifies that it is applicable to all boards and corporations, mahanagara palikes, urban development authorities, urban planning authorities and other urban local bodies. "However, photos of the President, Prime Minister, Chief Justice, Governor, Chief Minister and Gandhiji can be used," the circular stated.

Upcoming Metro line to push up real estate prices

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

RESIDENTS and property developers of West Bengaluru are keenly awaiting the launch of the Mysuru Road-Kengeri Line, as real estate projects, malls, house and office rentals are set make a booming business after the Metro starts chugging along the route.

A whiff of what is in store for commercial ventures is being spelt out by M C Shivakumar, owner of the biggest convention hall in Bengaluru on Mysuru Road, Purnima Palace, which can accommodate nearly 10,000 people in its sprawling campus. "I am getting enquiries for marriage bookings and most are asking about the Metro line. I have been running this centre for three years. Bookings will definitely improve after people see the line actually running through this part of the city," he told TNIE.

Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry president Perikal M Sundar said that whenever a massive project like the Metro comes up in an area, the value of property surges by nearly 25% within 12 to 18 months. "There will be a small immediate increase in price but it will gradually appreciate in future and may increase by 25% within the next one and a half years," he added.

Bhaskar T Nagendrappa, president of Bengaluru chapter of Confederation of Real Estate Developers Association of India, said, "One can see the major difference in the stretch between Vijayanagar and Raja Rajeshwari Nagar post the launch of operations. There has been a surge in rentals and property value in the areas."

Soon, first tender for suburban rail

Works along one corridor to cost Rs 900 cr

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE ball will be set rolling on the actual work for the Rs 15,767-crore suburban rail project soon, as the nodal agency will call for tenders for one of the corridors worth Rs 900 crore.

A top official told The New Indian Express, "The tender for civil works will be called by the Karnataka Rail Infrastructure Development Enterprises (K-RIDE). We are just about to issue the tender for the Baiyappanahalli-Chikkabanavara line."

On the status of land acquisition for the line, the official said that preliminary notifications have already been issued for two separate stretches, each running for nearly 10km. "Another notification to acquire land for a stretch of 15km will be issued soon. We do not foresee any problem in acquiring land," the official added.

On the status of other stretches, the official said that tender for the Heelalige-Baiyappanahalli-Channasandra-Yelahanka-Rajanagunte Line (Fourth Corridor), which runs for 46.24km, will be called in the next two or three months.

Two months ago, the State Government had decided to prioritise these two corridors, and to take up the other two corridors later. The Centre had also given the State permission to go ahead with external borrowing of Rs 7,400 crore in the last week of July.

Suburban areas in Phase-II

Kapil Mohan, Additional Chief Secretary, Infrastructure Development, told TNIE that the government believes that the project should connect suburban areas of the city. "We want to ensure that Bangarpet, Tumakuru, Chikkaballapur, Doddaballapur and Ramanagar are covered in the second phase. Only then will the project be truly suburban in nature," he said.

Mohan further said that Phase-I destinations are apt as it is crucial to decongest the core areas of the city. "For the suburban areas to benefit, the central areas need to be traffic-free first," he explained.

Now, you can get dual degree from US colleges

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Bengaluru

THE higher education department has collaborated with two colleges based out of the US to give international exposure to diploma students. This is part of the internationalisation of higher education, Commissioner for Higher Education Pradeep P said. The state has been working at it for a year, although the guidelines were issued in the past 20 days.

He was talking to the media at a seminar on implementation of NEP-2020 in Karnataka on Friday. He said that after talks for a year, the curriculum and fee structure was finalised for a twinning programme, or dual degree programme, with Montgomery County Community College (MCCC) for a Travel and Tourism Diploma, and Harrisburg Area Community College (HACC), US, for a Cyber Security course.

At the end of three years, Karnataka will provide a diploma degree, and the US-based institutes will give an associate degree. First-year students will be taught by lecturers at Sri Jayachamarajendra Polytechnic College. In the second year, Karnataka will coordinate and universities abroad will hold online classes for students here. In the third year, students will go to college campuses abroad. If students take up on-campus jobs in the third year, they can earn up to Rs 10 lakh. After three years, there is an option of Optional Practical Training (OPT), where students can work in the US and will receive work visas. In the fourth year, students can earn up to Rs 30 lakh. The two colleges have collaborations with many universities, and students can get lateral entry for third year. If they study for two more years, they will earn a degree in the USA.

AICTE has already approved this, Pradeep said.

A cohort of 30 students will be able to go abroad for each course. While 70,000 students are admitted each year, an examination will be held to select students.

Varsities set up helplines, help desks at colleges

PRADEEP said awareness campaigns on NEP are being held for parents, students, lecturers and other stakeholders.

A state-level helpline at the Karnataka State Higher Education Council (KSHEC) was launched on August 23, where lecturers sitting at the KSHEC office try to answer questions from students. Helplines have been started at each university, while colleges told to set up help desks, he said.

The Higher Education Academy in Dharwad will hold a one-day workshop for 10,000 government and aided college teachers. Every university has been asked to hold NEP workshops for teachers of all affiliated colleges and managements, besides students and parents.

Higher Education Minister Dr Ashwath Narayan attended workshops in Bengaluru and Mysuru, while he will take part in similar exercises at Dharwad, Kalaburagi, Mangaluru, Tumakuru and Davanagere.

Colleges too will hold weekly orientation programmes for prospective students and parents on NEP.

At each university and at the state level, YouTube live sessions by experts, phone-in programmes and talks should take place as planned, Pradeep said.

On Thursday, a workshop was held for all government college principals and teachers.

Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, who reviewed the preparation for CET on Friday, said that all necessary precautions have taken for the smooth conduct of the tests to be held on August 28 and 29, at 530 centres across the state. A total of 20,415 officers have been deployed. Each centre will have a thermal scanner and paramedical staff ready. Separate arrangements have been made for the 12 students who are Covid positive. Additional buses will also ply to help students commute to the test centres.

STATE AWAITS CENTRAL LEGISLATION ON NEP

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Bengaluru

WHILE there is widespread criticism over the New Education Policy (NEP) lacking a legal platform, Commissioner Pradeep P said that a taskforce was created in March 2020. "Three changes were needed -- legislative, financial and adminsitrative/academic," he said.

For legislative changes, he said that a draft legislation is in progress for the implementation of four verticals, which also include legislation and grants. However, central legislations are also awaited, and state legislation will be structured accordingly.

Minister of Higher Education Dr CN Ashwath Narayan too did not give a timeframe for the implementation of state legislation. Meanwhile, Pradeep said that universities can make academic changes at their level by making regulations.

He further added that model regulation is being prepared for all universities. If the varsities decide to make necessary changes, they can be made in the syndicate and academic council, which the government will approve.

Further about the legislation that is to be being discussed to implemented in the state, Pradeep said that under it, there will be separate councils for primary and higher education. Under them, the councils will have four verticals - regulation, grants council, standard setting and accreditation system.

Multilingualism to be promoted under policy

ETHICS and human and Constitutional values will be mandatory. Health and wellness life skills will be imparted, which help in today's time that has the incidence of drug and social media addiction.

Multilingualism will be promoted under the curriculum, which will also take into account local context and diversity.

There will be a synergy in the curriculum right from anganwadi to primary, to secondary, and to degree level classes, he added.

The curriculum of first-year degree students will be aligned with level 5 of the National Skills Qualification Framework (NSQF), wherein students will be equipped with all the skills at that level.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

28th August: Today's lively Moon encourages us all to be a little more adventurous than usual. If you hate tradition, you could be very happy, but if you love it you could feel slightly uncomfortable as the Earth seems to move beneath your feet, removing the old uncertainties. Well, it might not be that dramatic, but you know what I mean!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You must expect today's planetary aspects to keep you on your toes and deprive you of any rest or relaxation you had planned for the weekend. One thing is certain - that partners know best! Or, at least, they act is if they do! Perhaps you'll have to go along with them for now!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You have been advised to be more flexible in your intimate relationships. Now the planets will test you to see just how well you have absorbed this lesson. Close partners will challenge you to do things their way, but you can teach them a thing or two about how to enjoy themselves.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
One way to use your time positively is to enhance your physical well-being. Clean up your diet and make sure you are following a regime of exercise which suits your personal requirements and needs. You'll be stretching your personal abilities in every single known direction.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The best astrological alignments, such as those to which you are now subject, are not always those which have the greatest impact. Therefore, it is up to you to actively take the courageous and optimistic initiatives which are now called for, especially where family matters are concerned.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Challenging planetary aspects are often more desirable than those which promise an easy life. For example, the weekend's Sun-Moon angle holds out the prospect of lively events at home - even if some of them leave you feeling just slightly bemused and confused.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Your practical nature stands you in good stead at times like these, but you may yet be swept away by emotion. Even chance statements from other people will have the power to arouse deep and perhaps uncontrollable feelings. All you have to do is make sure that they don't cost you too much.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
No matter how often you have experienced blank stares or lack of understanding, you must continue to make your point. Right now the crucial issue is likely to be financial and the best way to use your cash is to the benefit of all. It's how you go about doing it that matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
In many ways, the next few days represent the beginning of a major new astrological phase. Aside from the fact that the week ahead may be somewhat problematic, make it your goal to implement a programme of emotional and psychological spring-cleaning.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Two possibilities arise from current planetary aspects. Either you may join in a bout of back-biting and gossip. Or you may set out to discreetly help other people with selfless dedication. At any rate, Mars' lively position brings wonderful social trends - and a few surprises.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Brilliant social and romantic opportunities should not be passed up just because you have other commitments or obligations. Get out and enjoy yourself while you have the chance. Professional types are sensing new responsibilities, but today may not be the time to go for them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Enhanced status and prestige are yours for the taking. Career success may be one factor, but prominence in your community is another. You will receive your just rewards for all your previous efforts. And you will also receive another spate of benefits in about six months' time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
One side of your character, which you must now indulge, is that which seeks spiritual truth and mystical revelation. It is all too easy to push such subtle, yet vital, considerations to one side. One word of advice, though - keep a very close and serious eye on your finances.

3RD WAVE BY SEPT-END, MAY NOT BE SEVERE IF VARIANT IS SAME

Karnataka will see surge 4-6 weeks after Kerala, cannot stop testing till December

RANJANI MADHAVAN
@ Bengaluru

THE third Covid-19 wave in Karnataka can be expected by September-end or the beginning of October. Generally, four to six weeks after a surge in seen in Kerala, there is a rise in cases in Karnataka, said Dr C N Manjunath, director of Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research.

"If the same virus strain is seen, the third wave won't be as severe as the second wave, but that may not be the case if we see a new variant. The government of India says we don't need to test those coming in from other states who have received both doses of the vaccine, but this cannot apply to Kerala, which is contributing 65 per cent of the country's caseload. They need to show RT-PCR negative report while entering, quarantine for a week here, and undergo a retest, before being declared safe," said Dr Manjunath, who is nodal officer for Covid-19 testing in Karnataka and member of the Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee.

A health worker collects swab samples of a passenger at the city's Kempegowda Bus Station on Friday. Bengaluru reported 386 fresh Covid-19 cases | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

He said the state must not drop Covid testing till December. The situation in Kerala is alarming, with one in every five persons being Covid-positive. Stringent checks are being conducted at border checkposts to regulate people coming in for commercial, business and educational activities. Last time, the clusters started with nursing colleges in Mangaluru, where students from Kerala came to study. There are 25-30 nursing colleges in Mangaluru in Udupi, he pointed out.

"The challenge for the next wave is to ensure enough vaccines, and to vaccinate more people. We need to err on the side of maximum preparedness. The only worry is further mutations and immune escape variants as different strains evoke different antibodies," he said.

Dr Manjunath said that Covid testing in Karnataka is robust, with 264 private and government labs combined for the purpose. Oxygen capacity is good, with all district hospitals and medical college hospitals having oxygen generators.

The government has stocked up on drugs, including steroids, Remdesivir, Amphotericin B, Immunoglobulins for children developing Multi-System Inflammatory Syndrome (MIS-C) post-Covid, etc. District-level task forces have been constituted and pediatric facilities strengthened in terms of numbers and training, he added.

Focus now on paediatric ILI, SARI cases

ENS @Bengaluru

NOW on, all pediatricians and family doctors, medical institutions and hospitals must report all pediatric cases of ILI, SARI and any suspect Covid cases on the KPME portal. BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta issued the guidelines on Friday, ahead of the onset of the third wave and taking all precautionary measures, following the directions of the CM.

Gupta also assigned a nodal officer, Dr Deepak Nadig, for reference and verification. Correct name, address and other details should be mentioned on the portal to enable tracking of cases, the circular said. The guidelines stated that all such cases are subject to Covid testing, as per existing government norms. They said that 10% of pediatric cases referred to medical institutions or hospitals should be subject to Covid-19 testing for appropriate surveillance. Positive samples will be sent for genome sequencing in coordination with zonal BBMP teams.

Can't traumatise victim, says Sood, as police teams fan out

Cops working on physical, technical evidence, hopeful of nabbing accused soon

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

TEAMS of the Mysuru Police involved in the investigation of the heinous gang-rape of a college student have fanned out to neighbouring states, acting on the leads they have obtained so far. The police are confident that the attackers will be arrested soon. Karnataka DG&IGP Praveen Sood, who rushed to Mysuru from New Delhi on Friday, said that they are building up the case carefully based on technical and material evidence. Refusing to fix a time frame for the investigation, he said, "We want to give enough space for the victim to return to normal. We are hopeful that she will cooperate with the investigation once she is out of the trauma. We have not met the victim nor tried to record her statement in the hospital." He also hinted that her parents have assured of all cooperation in the investigation.

So far, neither the victim, who is undergoing treatment at a private hospital here, nor her parents have lodged an official complaint. Referring to this, District minister S T Somashekhar claimed that the survivor is not cooperating with the police. He told reporters that he was informed by the police that the victim's parents have given in writing not to allow anyone to meet her or record her statements. However, Sood said, "The psychological trauma is unimaginable. I can't traumatise the victim to record her statement in one or two days. I have given her time and she has promised to co-operate when she is in a normal mental state. There are limitations," he added. Sood also recalled that in the 2013 Manipal rape case and another one in Kammanahalli, Bengaluru, the victims had not lodged complaints. "We investigated the case based on evidence. In the law student case and the Cubbon Park case, the culprits are serving life terms because the investigation was solid," he pointed out.

Regarding the statement of the victim's friend, Sood said he does not know what happened when he was unconscious. He stressed that the police will not come under any kind of pressure. Asked whether a few students of the college, where the victim is studying, are involved, he said they are looking into all angles but refused to divulge any details. "Trust me, as professional policemen, we are investigating the case," he added.

Mysuru varsity imposes curbs on movement of girl students

KARTHIK KK @ Mysuru

IN the wake of the horrific gang-rape of a college student at the foothills of the Chamundi Hills, the century-old University of Mysore (UoM) has issued a circular prohibiting movement of girl students on the campus after 6.30 pm. However, the diktat has irked the students.

According to the circular signed by the Registrar, a copy of which is available with TNIE, the varsity has imposed fresh curbs wherein movement of girl students after 6.30 pm inside the campus is prohibited and they have also been advised not to be seen alone inside the campus. The circular was issued following oral orders from the police in the wake of the gang-rape.

However, girl students have expressed their ire against the decision and have questioned whether this is the 'freedom' given to young women at a time when the country is celebrating 75 years of independence.

Monica, a research scholar from the Department of Environmental Sciences, said that nearly 70% of the students in the campus are girls and questioned the need for such curbs when there is enough surveillance and security at the campus.

"As research scholars, we can't work in a time-bound manner. Now, we have to stop research work, like referring to books in the library, by 6.30 pm as per the circular. The varsity should have taken students into confidence and sought their opinion before issuing the circular," she said.

Another student, Kaveri, questioned why the rule was limited only to female students. "We talk about women empowerment, equality... but the circular is only for women," she rued.

Registrar R Shivappa confirmed that a circular in this regard has already been issued keeping in mind the safety of female students. The authorities have also barred entry of public to Kukkarahalli lake after 6.30 pm which comes under the varsity limits.

CONG TARGETS HOME MINISTER, ASKS WHY NEWBIE WAS GIVEN JOB

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Opposition Congress on Friday launched a scathing attack on the government over the functioning of the Home Ministry in the light of the henious gang rape of a student in Mysuru.

Several Congress leaders, including former council chairman VR Sudarshan and KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed, expressed anger against Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, who posed for cameras while trying his hand on fire arms training simulator during his visit to the Karnataka Police Academy in Mysuru on Friday. "Why did the BJP give the Home portfolio to a first-time minister? If the BJP considers the Home Minister to be competent, why does Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai have to seek regular updates about the rape case?" they asked.

In Gokak, KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi said the minister had exposed himself by making irresponsible statements. In Hassan, JDS state president H K Kumaraswamy said, "The Home Minister must take moral responsibility for the heinous crime in Mysuru and tender his resignation."

Meanwhile, while there is palpable public anger and outrage over the gang rape, many politicians too have reacted angrily. Former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy suggested, "Do what the Hyderabad police did to the rape accused." He was referring to the case where the accused in the gang rape of a veterinarian were shot dead in an alleged encounter. Kumaraswamy also blamed the government for not curbing anti-social activities like drinking in public.

Tourism Minister Anand Singh said the perpetrators must be bobbitized. "There is a lack of trust among people, because the culprits are sent to jail and they can come out on bail later."

Congress MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar demanded that the perpetrators be hanged. She said it was appalling that they had tried to shoot a video of the incident and extort money from the victim. However, former chief minister B S Yediyurappa sounded more guarded. "I am confident that the criminals will be caught and punished. The police are investigating the case sincerely and working beyond their capacity to trace the criminals," he stressed.

Teenager gang-raped multiple times, 4 arrested

BELAGAVI: Just days after the horrific gang rape of a student in Mysuru, a similar incident came to light on Friday, where a 16-year-old girl was allegedly gang-raped in Ghataprabha of Belagavi district. A top police officer from Belagavi said the girl was allegedly raped by a group of men multiple times, in and around the same town for many weeks. The men are also from Ghataprabha. Most of the men involved were known to the girl for a long time. Whether they had consensual intercourse with the girl or not, police had to file a rape case since the girl is a minor, the officer said. Police also filed a case of atrocity against all the accused. The girl's family had brought the case to the notice of a local women's rehabilitation centre, and eventually, the local police was informed. A case was filed and four of the accused were arrested in Ghataprabha. ENS

B'luru civic body order on netas' photos ignored

THE order comes into effect immediately, and the authorities have been directed to remove any such publicity banner of any elected representatives or political leaders. If not implemented, Â FIRs can be registered at local police stations and action taken against officials concerned.

In November 2020, the then Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike commissioner had issued a circular that photographs of elected representatives on bus shelters, drinking water units, government and BBMP advertisements on buses and other places should not be used. But the order has largely been ignored. After a public interest litigation was filed before the high court, the Additional Chief Secretary had directed all officials from the BBMP, Bengaluru Development Authority, BWSSB, BMRCL, BMRDL and other divisions to take action accordingly by the end of July 2021.

Meanwhile, in the first week of August, the court had insisted that photos or names of political leaders should not be displayed at any public project.

The concerned authorities have been told to submit details of construction works where photos of elected representatives are being used.

BSY gets warm welcome in home district

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru, Shivamogga

FORMER Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa on Friday headed to his home district Shivamogga for a four-day tour, his first visit to his constituency after he demitted office. He is expected to participate in local programmes and functions in Shivamogga on Saturday morning, and visit his constituency Shikaripura in Shivamogga on Sunday, again for local programmes.

After meeting visitors in Bengaluru in the morning, Yediyurappa drove to Shivamogga, accompanied by escort and pilot vehicles, since he enjoys Z-category security. This is his first drive to Shivamogga after nearly two years.

In Shivamogga, Yediyurappa received a a warm welcome by district leaders, as he stepped out of his brand-new Toyota Vellfire.

Addressing party workers and supporters, he said he had made honest efforts to sanction projects and works that were demanded in different taluks in the district. Once these projects were completed, Shivamogga city and the district would emerge as a model, he said.

"My dream to bring in industries and provide employment to thousands of youths in the district which will be realised once the ongoing airport work is completed in 6-8 months. This will boost industrial development, he said.

The party's focus is on the next assembly elections in 2023, and win more than 135 constituencies. "I will not be touring the entire state alone. All our leaders, local MLAs and ministers would join in to strengthen our party and assign work that would bring our party to power on its own in the next elections," said Yediyurappa.

He hinted that his priority is to identify constituencies where his party can register a victory in the next elections to strengthen the party base. He said he has sanctioned funds for development work in all districts. "During my political career, I have never discriminated against people based on the caste, creed, religion etc. Need to work with party workers in an affectionate manner," he said.

K'taka plans textile, jewellery & spices parks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AS part of its efforts to give a fillip to the local economy and generate employment, the State Government has proposed to develop textile, jewellery and spices parks in Karnataka.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who was in New Delhi on Thursday, met Union Minister of Commerce and Textile Piyush Goyal, and the duo discussed the state's new textile policy. "The minister has asked the State Government to submit a proposal to establish a textile park in Karnataka. He assured us of all the required facilities, including subsidy from the Centre. He also said that he will help the state in forging tie-ups with national and international textile manufacturers. The proposed park will help in generating more employment, especially for women," Bommai told reporters in Bengaluru on Friday. The textile park is expected to come up in North Karnataka. It may be recalled that the UPA government, in 2011, had proposed to set up a mega textile park in Kalaburagi. The project, however, was scrapped last year owing to fund crunch.

Apart from the textile park, there is also a proposal to set up a jewellery park in the state. Bommai has asked the Jewellery Association to submit a detailed proposal on the requirements. He said that the sector has the potential to generate employment. The location of the park, however, is yet to be decided.

Meanwhile, Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani held discussion with Union Minister of State for Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Shobha Karandlaje, in Bengaluru on Friday on establishing a spices park at Ambale in Chikkamagaluru district. The Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board will provide financial assistance for the proposed spices park that will come up on 10 acres at Ambale. They also discussed establishing food processing units and providing guidance to farmers on exporting farm produce. "We will strive to make Karnataka a leader in agriculture export," Nirani added.

Not worried about outcome of CM's Delhi visit, says Anand Singh

> Some issues cannot be discussed publicly. I would not like to speculate on what can happen in the future
>
> Anand Singh, Tourism Environment and Ecology Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TOURISM, Environment and Ecology Minister Anand Singh, who had been assured by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel that his grouse about portfolio allocation will be discussed with the party bosses in Delhi, said he will not chase the CM to know what was the outcome of the latter's visit. "That is not my nature," he said bluntly.

The CM was on a two-day visit to Delhi and returned on Thursday as he could not meet party national president J P Nadda and discuss the issue. Anand Singh had been sulking and had not taken charge of his ministries for about three weeks. He did so last week after being persuaded by the CM and Kateel.

Asked about the delay, Singh told TNIE, "Some issues cannot be discussed publicly. I would not like to speculate on what can happen in the future." He claimed that he will go by the directives of party seniors and was advised that this was not the right time. While admitting that he did feel let down, he said, "If I give my word to someone, I keep it. I got emotional and hence, kept away, but I'm not fussy about portfolios."

Singh said that at present, the tourism sector was facing a crunch as tourist inflow had dwindled to fears of a third wave of Covid-19 despite the vast potential for tourism. On the ecology front, he said, "There were complaints that officials were hesitant to go to remote areas where there was pollution or other ecological violations. I held a discussion with the officials and explained to them how to deal with violations in certain remote areas. There have been complaints about industries discharging effluents into rivers. Whenever such issues come to my notice, we will not hesitate to take criminal action against the offenders."

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE state judiciary bid an emotional adieu to Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice BV Nagarathna on Friday.

Chief Justice Oka, noting that the pandemic has come as a blessing in disguise for courts to use technology, said that Karnataka judiciary has the potential to become the best in the country. Though it was planned to dispose of all cases that are over five years old in district and trial courts by the end of 2021, it could not be achieved because of Covid. It could be achieved by the end of 2022, he said. Judges should be strict without being harsh and ensure that the faith of the common man in judiciary is not shaken.

I think my life has been wedded with this red building (High Court) and everybody with whom I worked. I carry with me the strength of your affection and tremendous goodwill," she said emotionally. "May all the world, may all the people in the world feel well, comfortable and happy... Thank you," she said, signing off with 'Dhanyavaadagalu', meaning thank you in Kannada.

Senior-most judge Justice Satish Chandra Sharma, who has been made the acting chief justice, said parting is always painful, but inevitable.

THE Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB), Bengaluru zonal unit, arrested a city-based woman under the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act, 1985. According to the NCB, the woman, Yogita S, had come to Electronics City post office, to receive a parcel from Germany which reportedly contained one kg of contraband MDMA crystals worth Rs 40 lakh in the grey market.

"NCB officials on August 26 had intercepted an incoming parcel from Germany, which reportedly contained MDMA crystals, at Electronics City Post Office. Investigation has revealed that Yogita has been involved in drug trafficking for the past three years. "Besides Bengaluru, she sells drugs to other cities in South India," the officer said.

Moral policing: Group 'heckles' students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

IN a fresh incident of moral policing in Dakshina Kannada, students of a paramedical college were heckled by pro-Hindutva activists. Following this, the district police arrested three men, but were later released on bail.

The incident occurred on Thursday, when a group of students belonging to different faiths went on a trip to Karinja temple in Bantwal. There were male students along with their three female classmates, studying final year paramedical courses at AJ Hospital. When they were returning home, a group of right-wing activists stopped them near the temple pond and questioned the male students for accompanying girls from another faith. Poonjalakatte police arrived at the spot and took the students to the station.

Meanwhile, one of the female students filed a police complaint demanding action against five right-wing activists.

₹317 crore for Lankan Tamil refugees: Stalin

Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin said an advisory committee, including a representative of Lankan refugees, will be formed | EXPRESS

Says relief package announced based on inspections carried out at refugee camps

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

IN a relief to thousands of Sri Lankan refugees staying in various camps in Tamil Nadu, Chief Minister MK Stalin on Friday announced ₹317.40 crore-worth welfare package for them. Stating that the Lankan Tamils were living in camps without sufficient basic amenities, Stalin said that his government would ensure a secured, honourable, and improved life for them. The measures were announced based on inspections that were recently carried out at refugee camps. Incidentally, the Chief Minister also said that steps are being taken to dispose of the pending cases against detained Lankan Tamils in the State.

Making a suo motu statement, under Rule 110, in the State Assembly, Stalin said that an advisory committee, comprising Minister for Non Resident Tamils Welfare KS Masthan, an MP, an MLA, senior officials, and a representative of the Lankan Tamil refugees, would soon be formed. The committee would extend assistance to the refugees staying in the camps as well as those living outside, improving basic amenities for them, and to make arrangements for their return to homeland.

Of the total ₹317.40 crore, the CM said ₹261.54 crore would be allocated for reconstruction of 7,469 houses that are in dilapidated condition at the refugee camps, and for infrastructure development. In the first phase, ₹108.81 crore would be allocated to build 510 new houses in the current financial year.

Since 1983, Stalin said that as many as 3,04,269 Lankan Tamil refugees have arrived in Tamil Nadu. Of them, 58,822 persons from 18,944 families have been kept in 108 refugee camps across 29 districts. Besides, as many as 34,087 persons from 13,540 families have registered their names with the police station.

PLEA DISMISSED

Kodanad case: Madras HC allows re-investigation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai/Coimbatore

THE Madras High Court on Friday refused to stay police investigations into the sensational Kodanad murder-cum-heist case. The court dismissed the petition by an AIADMK functionary from Coimbatore, who is also a witness in the case, against the police conducting further investigations when the case was already under trial.

The verdict comes barely a week after the Opposition leader, Edappadi K Palaniswami, alleged that the DMK government was trying to frame him and other senior AIADMK leaders in the case. Palaniswami was the Chief Minister at the time of the crime, in 2017. Justice M Nirmal Kumar's order on Friday said the law does not mandate prior permission from the magistrate to initiate further investigation. "The filing of charge sheet or pendency of the trial can by no means be a prohibition to conduct further investigation," the judge noted. "It is always better to have a fair and impartial trial," the judge affirmed.

The petitioner in the case was one Anubav Ravi, joint secretary of Amma Peravai in Coimbatore, and also a witness in the case. The judge stated that the petitioner has no say in the manner of investigation and trial of the case as he is neither a complainant nor a victim or accused but only a witness. When the petition was heard before the judge, Advocate General R Shanmugasundaram and State Public Prosecutor Hasan Mohammed Jinna, said that the police had filed a memo before the court for re-investigation.

Sunday curbs return as Kerala fights Covid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

GRAPPLING with a puzzling Covid-19 situation in the state, a beleaguered Kerala government on Friday announced the return of lockdown Sundays, but in a stricter form, even as its health minister came under fire for blaming people for the latest surge. Panic within the administration became apparent on a day the state reported 32,801 new cases, the third consecutive day when the daily tally crossed the 30,000 mark, the test positivity rate closed in on an alarming 20%.

The Sunday lockdown, which was suspended in the last two weeks owing to Independence Day and Onam, will be imposed more vigorously with only emergency services and shops selling essential items allowed. Though there is no scientific explanation for imposing lockdown on a single day, the government resorted to the measure as there is no constructive solution at hand.

On Friday, there were 32,801 newly infected persons which reminded of the height of the second wave, when 43,529 cases were reported on May 12. The test positivity rate also touched 19.22%, which is a three-month high.

Health Minister Veena George, who drew flak for criticising Covid patients in home isolation for worsening the situation on Thursday, switched to advisory mode a day after and requested all to continue strong vigil with a special consideration for children.

ANDHRA, KARNATAKA OPPOSE TS MOVE TO WITHDRAW CASE

Hyderabad: Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka, on Friday, requested the Supreme Court not to give a chance to Telangana government to withdraw the case, filed under Section 3 of the Interstate River Water Disputes Act, 1956. Telangana filed a petition to withdraw the case, filed in 2015, with a request to the government to give new terms of reference to Tribunal under Section 3 of the IRWD Act. When the matter came up for hearing, the AP and Karnataka opposed the same. AP and Karnataka wanted that the Krishna river water disputes should be resolved in the Supreme Court only. ENS

Aviation sector divided over drug test proposal

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE proposal by the Director General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) to launch random testing of aviation personnel for consumption of psychoactive substances has left the aviation sector divided. While the managements involved have given a thumbs-up, airline staff insist that it puts them under unnecessary pressure and suspicion.

The Civil Aviation Requirement (CAR) order was put up on its website on August 25 for feedback from all stakeholders, before it was made official.

The personnel will be tested for the following substances -- Amphetamine, Methamphtamine, Cannabis, Cocaine, Opioids, Barbiturates, Benzodizipine, MMDA or Ecstasy. The order recommends mandatory testing of 5% of flight crewmembers, air traffic controllers, aircraft maintenance engineers, certifying staff, trainee pilots as well as instructors and examiners.

DGCA Director Arun Kumar told TNIE, "Testing for psychoactive substances is a common practice abroad. It is time we introduce it here too, as consumption of drugs is on the rise in the country. So we plan to introduce it bearing safety of public in mind."

AAI Director at Belagavi, Rajesh Kumar Maurya, welcomed the move, saying it "a good one" which will enhance the safety of passengers." The owner of a flying school too has welcomed it, saying, "It is very important from the point of passenger safety. However, those checking it must adopt the right method, and the process should not harass pilots and other staff."

Will add to stress: Capt

Retired airline instructor pilot Capt Mohan Ranganathan says it will put pilots under additional pressure in the present circumstances. Drawing a parallel with the breathalysers tests being done at present, he recalled a top official of an airline getting caught and getting away with it. "There are always loopholes. Those with influence get away with everything."

Referring to the present situation, Capt Ranganathan said pilots are working under pressure due to delayed salaries and even cut in salaries. "There is also a possibility that medicines prescribed for other illnesses could have some components which could show up during these tests," he said.

A senior pilot, on anonymity, said the move would put the fraternity under pressure. "This would clearly breach the trust between the regulator and pilots. The pilot is the commander of the flight and needs to be treated with respect and dignity, and not viewed with suspicion," he said.

KEEP UP PACE OF COVID VACCINATION

Seven months after India began an ambitious Covid-19 vaccination drive, we have only covered one-fourth of the eligible population so far. The short supply of the two primary vaccines available in the country, Covishield and Covaxin, and the tardy progress in making other foreign jabs available have severely impaired the pace, leaving millions at the mercy of the pandemic. As on August 26, India had administered a total of 61.2 crore vaccines; 35.5% of the population have received one dose, of which 10.5% received both. It is a long way to go.

A quick glance at the coverage data reveals a clear divide between the northern states and their southern counterparts. While the northern states have continued to struggle with their vaccination efforts, those in the south have taken a clear lead, riding on their comparatively better healthcare infrastructure. Kerala, currently in the throes of a massive virus surge, has made headway in inoculating people. It has given at least one dose to 57% of its population, while 20.9% have received both. Karnataka has achieved single vaccination for 45.5%, 14% have received double doses. Tamil Nadu has a lot of catching up to do, having achieved only 31.6% and 7.8% respectively, both below the national average. The government has now stepped on the throttle. It has begun vaccination for the elderly and disabled at their door steps, and rolled out 24x7 vaccination camps in all major government hospitals in the state.

Some northern states are lagging far behind. In Uttar Pradesh, only 24.9% of the population have received one dose, while the number of people who got double doses stands at a paltry 4.9%. In Bihar, only 24.2% have received a single dose while 4.8% got two doses, way below the national average. As the government is not keen to give foreign vaccine makers protection from liabilities arising out of possible severe adverse reactions to the recipients, the only way is to enhance the vaccine production capacity. While India administered over 1 crore vaccine doses on Friday—the highest-ever in a single day—we can't afford to relax.

TIME TO TAKE A DEEP BREATH

People have become health conscious these days, in large measure, due to Covid. Looking at the bright side, there couldn't be a better time to inculcate healthy habits, particularly among children. It is now common knowledge that the coronavirus affects the respiratory tract and those recovering from it are learning to breathe better so as to strengthen their lungs. It has also been observed that regular exercise and deep breathing may reduce the impact of Covid on lungs.

Deep breathing has many other advantages too. It reduces stress, anxiety, insomnia and helps one relax. Scientific studies at universities like Harvard and Stanford have confirmed the same. Many other studies have also shown that proper breathing is related to metabolism, energy levels, etc. In the West, scientists have come up with breathing techniques like Cardiac Coherence Breathing. In India, we tend to dismiss these as nothing more than rebranding of ancient yogic practices. It is in fact so in many cases. The question, however, is do we, who claim this legacy, breathe properly? In the US, breathing sessions are conducted for soldiers suffering from PTSD, schoolchildren and patients suffering from mental illnesses. Bestsellers like Breath: The New Science of a Lost Art by James Nestor and The Oxygen Advantage by Patrick McKeown are prompting people in the West to include deep breathing in their fitness regime. Many are learning practices such as qigong. In India, pranayama is practised but is still not as popular as it ought to be. It need not be looked at as part of some religious practice alone. Most people get to know of its benefits only after visiting a psychiatrist or psychologist and these days, after contracting Covid.

Given its myriad advantages, deep breathing for at least 10 minutes could be made a part of regular activities in schools and colleges. It is important as it helps students focus better, de-stress, and gain mental and emotional balance. It has the potential to make a vital difference not only to them but also the society. Governments should invite inputs from yoga trainers, martial arts experts, pulmonologists and psychiatrists, and introduce breathing techniques for students at all levels.

What needs to be kept in mind in the Myanmar situation is that without a complete structural and psychological overhaul, civil rule in the country may never be complete

THE MILITARY DNA IN MYANMAR'S GOVERNANCE

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM
Editor, Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

AMIT BANDRE

The February military coup in Myanmar has now slowly but surely faded out of the headlines and public memory. Responses of international and regional institutions, in particular the UN and the ASEAN, have been at best tame, merely calling the junta to allow democracy to return and not in any way asking them to do so or else pay the price. Now even those who had been genuinely outraged, within and outside Myanmar, seem resigned not only to the reality of the coup, but also the possibility of another long spell of military rule in the country. Most countries are now inclined towards the pragmatic option of establishing ties with whoever emerges as the power wielders in the country and not the moralistic one of aligning only with those fighting for the return of democracy.

India's emotional ties with Myanmar ought to have been much stronger, considering the latter was part of British India till 1937, but as the late Ashok Mitra pointed out in a column A Dose of Heresy in a Kolkata daily a decade ago, India is by intuition not eastward looking. At the peak of the freedom struggle, when Myanmar (Burma then) was bifurcated from India, it went virtually unnoticed. Mitra hyperbolically even suggested that if along with Myanmar, the Northeast too had been thus separated then, the response could have been similar. That was then. Now things have changed, especially with China's lengthening shadow in the region. While the dilemma on whether to treat the military coup in Myanmar as the country's internal affair or not cannot be easy, on India's part, it should at least come out with a refugee policy that takes cognisance of the presence of desperate political refugees from Myanmar on its territory. On a longer-term perspective, it would also be prudent for the country to begin taking interest in what lies to its east, just as much as it does in developments in Pakistan and Afghanistan. Myanmar therefore is important.

In any consideration of Myanmar, what needs to be kept in mind is that without a complete structural and collective psychological overhaul, it does seem civil rule in Myanmar can never be complete. The fact is that for most of the country's postcolonial years since independence in 1948, it has been under military rule. The brief spell of partial democracy that returned a decade ago has now again been smothered. The diagnosis will have to go beyond the popular explanation of power-hunger of military leaders. It does seem there is also an underlying sense of a patriotic role of the military as guardians of the political establishment—an inherited DNA from the military's roots as freedom-fighting activists. Can an army with such a history come to be completely subordinate to civil authority? In a hypothetical scenario, if in 1947 it was the Indian National Army (INA) that had liberated India, would the Indian Army with its genes have been what it is today?

Defeat Into Victory, a book by Field Marshal William Slim, Commander of the Burma theatre during WWII, has some interesting clues. He described how he twice met General Aung San, father of Aung San Suu Kyi and leader of Myanmar freedom struggle as well as founder of a militiamen army—Burma Defence Army and later Burma National Army—who wanted to negotiate terms for switching sides to the British after some years of fighting alongside the Japanese and the INA. This was in May 1945 and Slim had turned the tables in this conflict theatre and the Japanese were on the retreat. Whether this was opportunism on Aung San's part is another question. There were many on the British side who were sceptical, believing the BNA would have little to offer militarily and that the group's Burmese nationalism would be a headache for the British after the war. Allied Supreme Commander in the Pacific Theatre Lord Mountbatten, however, favoured Slim's proposal, and hence the meetings were held.

> India should at least come out with a policy that takes cognisance of the presence of desperate political refugees from Myanmar on its territory. On a longer-term perspective, it would also be prudent for the country to begin taking interest in what lies to its east, just as much as it does in developments in Pakistan and Afghanistan

Slim met Aung San, both at the British HQ at Meiktila on May 15 and 30. In the first meeting, Aung San proposed that his provisional government formed by the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, AFPFL, be taken in as an ally with himself as an Allied Commander. This was turned down and the offer was for the BNA soldiers to be absorbed into the British Burma Rifles. On May 30, Aung San conceded to Slim's terms but insisted on two conditions: his troops be paid and rationed by the British and if major orders were to be given to the BNA soldiers, the resistance leaders be consulted. Slim agreed to these.

At the time of Myanmar's independence in 1948, it was Aung San's provisional government that inherited the British administration. Quite understandably, such a government would carry plenty of the DNA of the resistance movement it once headed when there were no clear separations between military and political responsibilities. Writer Bertil Lintner observed in an article that the Myanmar army presumes "the dwifungsi, or dual function, doctrine of the Indonesian army in which the military has both a defence and social-political role". This transition of power to Aung San's party also somewhat alienated the ethnic minorities, whose loyalty to the British while they were rulers were much longer and steadfast. Myanmar's current problem, hence, can be seen as a consequence of the nation's inability first to purge its defence forces of the political DNA inherited from the days they were freedom fighters. Second is the country's failure to decentralise and rework a comprehensive federal political structure that ensured equitable power sharing between its many nationalities. It may be of interest to note here that there are other nations that won militia-led freedom and have had to tackle similar challenges. For instance, the contentious Second Amendment of the US may be the country's own way of sublimating a similar gene.

MADRAS MONTH: WHAT ARE WE CELEBRATING?

NANDITHA KRISHNA
Historian, environmentalist and writer based in Chennai

As you drive down Mount Road, from north to south, you pass a beautiful old Indo-Saracenic building, unpainted, uncared-for, with plants growing out of the walls. This is Bharat Insurance Building, which had been marked for demolition by Life Insurance Corporation that now owns the building, but the Madras High Court, in a landmark judgment in 2010, included the building in a set of 400-plus heritage structures that could not be demolished and confirmed its grade 'A' certification. Not to worry. Its condition is so bad that it will probably fall down on its own one of these days.

Chennai celebrates Madras Month in August, when Francis Day signed the lease to take over the fishing village of Madrasapattinam to build a factory. The land belonged to the Raja of Chandragiri, whose agent, Damarla Venkatapathy Nayakar, slipped in a clause that it would be named after his father Chennappa Nayakar, a promise ignored by the British. Madras State became Tamil Nadu in 1969 and Madras became Chennai in 1996. Whoever had the idea of renaming the city was probably not aware that Chennappa Nayakar was a Telugu, and had never visited Madras. Well, at least that makes us less parochial!

Indo-Saracenic architecture was conceived in Madras and the first Art Deco building appeared here in 1938. But the authorities have never tried to conserve the heritage buildings and precincts. First, they wanted to break down Moore Market and when there was a huge uproar, a fire conveniently burnt it down. The same happened to the beautiful Spencer's building—a childhood treat for most of us—which was replaced by the ugly Spencer Towers. Over the years, we have seen lovely old buildings and bungalows broken down and replaced by multi-storeyed buildings. And the character of entire precincts changed. For example, temple tanks were surrounded by houses whose roofs sloped towards the tank, collecting rainwater. Now the same houses have been replaced by buildings with flat roofs, while tarred roads have shut the water inlets. Naturally, the tanks are empty most of the year and groundwater levels are receding.

There are also several private houses with exclusive architecture, or where political events have taken place. Many owners of such homes cannot afford to maintain them and sell them off to builders who give them a good price and even an apartment. Can the government not step in and buy these houses, which can be used for government offices, schools, etc.?

Every region tries to preserve its heritage—tangible and intangible. Chennai has succeeded in preserving its intangible heritage—literature, music, dance and the folk arts. But tangible heritage has taken a beating. Temples are maintained by their trustees and occasionally by the HR&CE department, so we have Kapalishwarar temple, a tourist's delight, a Chola temple at Tiruvotriyur and the Pallava monuments at Mamallapuram, which have been declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO. What about other buildings?

Heritage management has become an area of focus today, influenced by liberalisation and globalisation. Heritage is a valuable resource that is conserved, protected and enjoyed throughout the world. It is also a source of identity. Archaeological heritage can promote economic development through tourism and contribute to harmony among cultures. For example, an Indo-Saracenic building includes Islamic, Hindu and British architectural features. Europe is a tourist's delight, with beautiful old buildings maintained in pristine surroundings. Heritage resources are the valuable assets of a community and tell a story that defies time. They contribute to the education of young people and pride in one's neighbourhood. India has so many monuments across the country, but local and national governments pick and choose what is politically or economically convenient, and ignore the rest. Heritage management certainly requires action in the context of Chennai that was Madras.

> Behind the Central station, there is the ugly multi-storeyed suburban station, while the Madras Museum has a hideous plastered frontage that covers the old building. There is no understanding that a heritage building includes the area around it, which gives it a character

The Tamil Nadu Heritage Commission Act was promulgated in 2012, but after the bare acts came out, nothing happened. Several public buildings have been listed but no protection has been given, except for some like the Central Station, Madras High Court, Senate House and the Museum complex, to name a few that are in use. But behind the Central station, there is the ugly multi-storeyed suburban station, while the Museum has a hideous plastered frontage that covers the old building. Luckily, the National Art Gallery and Museum Theatre have been left alone. There is no understanding that a heritage building includes the area around it, which gives it a character.

Meanwhile, the city is becoming filthy and the traffic is chaotic. Our two fresh water rivers, Cooum and Adyar, have become streams of sewage, while there is no way for rainwater to recede, causing floods. Slums are growing as politicians settle their supporters in the city. The broad vistas have gone. There are a few large gardens where children can play and the beach, in pre-Covid times, was taken over by food carts selling every kind of eatable. The beach and the rivers are a part of our natural heritage. They too deserve to be protected.

The OMR is filled with shiny glass-fronted buildings that could become the new Chennai which aims to keep up with New York and Singapore. The ECR is also being built up hurriedly. How did they all get permission from the CRZ (Coastal Regulatory Zone) authorities to construct so many buildings?

So what are we celebrating? Memories and nostalgia? I have written two books on the city—Madras Then Chennai Now with Tishani Doshi and Madras-Chennai, Its History and Environment for children. So many others, especially S Muthiah, have written about Madras, while Manohar Devadoss and Sujatha Shankar have just produced a book of lovely sketches and stories. But it's all about the old city of Madras. Nobody is celebrating Chennai. Let the "New" Chennai develop along OMR, leaving the beautiful old city alone. To quote a WhatsApp message I received, "Chennai is a city, Madras is an emotion."

Turf war among terrorists

Afghanistan's situation is getting more critical day by day. Kabul airport was attacked on Friday by suicide bombers, causing the death of about 13 US troops and many more Afghan citizens. Though the ISIS-K, which has claimed responsibility, were eradicated from eastern Afghanistan by the US in 2019, the current situation has given rise to a turf war among terrorist organisations. It is high time for severe action.

Kabul suicide bombings

As if the cruelty of the Taliban was not enough, the ISIS also went ahead with suicide bombing attacks to make life worse for people attempting to flee the country. This is a vital lesson to the world that terror in any form must not be tolerated or encouraged, be it the Taliban or ISIS.

Marital rape is still rape

The Chhattisgarh High Court's judgment finding a husband not guilty of a forced sexual act with his wife without her consent, as it was presumed to have been given during the solemnisation of marriage itself, is not right. The concept that marital rape is not rape is absurd as even a married woman has the right to not consent to physical intimacy at any time. It is high time the judiciary recognises marital rape as a crime that should be classified under the IPC dealing with general rape.

A dangerous trend

The Chief Justice of India's concern about the number of sedition charges filed against police officers following the change of regime in state governments merits serious consideration. Sedition charges slapped against officers once the government changes have grave consequences. This indirectly denotes that officers should dance to the tune of those in power while justice is a casualty. This is a dangerous trend. It is high time a clear-cut definition is made for sedition. Those who frame false charges should be given exemplary punishment.

This is with reference to The reality of mental health: Beyond the buzz (Aug 27). The article is timely as it clears some misconceptions about mental health and suggests ways to combat stress and depression that have become all the more common due to the pandemic. The authors have rightly cautioned that even those afflicted with minor mental illnesses that may not be the most apparent should not ignore it. Otherwise it might assume bigger proportions.

Blast no immediate threat to India: Experts

New Delhi says stand on unstable Afghanistan vindicated as analysts prescribe intelligence sharing mechanism

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @New Delhi

AS two explosions rocked Kabul on Thursday leading to multiple casualties, India said its stand on the heightened security threat to the country due to an unstable Afghanistan has been vindicated. However, experts feel there is no immediate threat to the country.

"What is happening in Afghanistan is not an unexpected, strange or dramatic turn of events. It was coming and stakeholders knew it. The security establishment has got enough time to prepare to meet new challenges that may emerge and must have prepared accordingly. We must trust our security establishment," said Ajit Singh of the Institute of Conflict Management.

Singh said the changed situation in Afghanistan, in all likelihood, may not pose an imminent threat to India. "Having said that, we must increase our vigil and ensure that we are not caught off guard as there have been instances where we were made to pay for complacency on the ground," he added.

Russia-based American analyst Andrew Korybko said the ISIS-K claiming responsibility of the Kabul attack is alarming. "Indian officials must ensure that any potential ISIS-K cells in the country are identified and preemptively thwarted since the group lays claim to its territory as part of its envisioned caliphate," he said and added that ISIS-K is more of a threat to Pakistan than India.

Responsibility of the twin explosions in Kabul was claimed by ISIS-K, an organisation which is believed to have many members from Pakistan.

"The bigger picture is that this terror group is a threat to the entire region and even the whole world, considering that it targeted members of the withdrawing Western coalition. The ideal scenario would be that the four directly threatened countries — Afghanistan, India, Pakistan, and the US — devise some sort of mechanism for intelligence sharing that could be also be open to others," Korybko added.

Senior fellow at Delhi Policy Group, Sanjay Pulipaka felt the blasts prove the security situation in Afghanistan is precarious. "It has been reported that ISIS-K took credit for this. It is possible there will be a new narrative. It will be argued that since the ISIS-K has made its presence felt, it is essential to support the Taliban/Pakistan to combat ISIS. Such a narrative will enable the Taliban to be portrayed as a partner in the fight against global terrorism. Sadly, this narrative will take attention away from the Taliban's conduct and Pakistan's support to terrorism in the subcontinent," he said.

MP visa denial due to new rule, asserts MEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

REACTING to claims by Afghan MP Rangina Kargar, who said she was denied entry to India and deported from Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi said on Friday that the country has started a new visa system for Afghans which led to confusion and the unfortunate incident.

"Once the security situation there deteriorated after August 15, there were reports of groups of people who raided one of our out-sourcing agencies who had Afghan passports with Indian visas. In light of the loss of Afghan passports containing Indian visas, our security agencies were in a state of high alert. We were moving to an e-emergency visa system. All this could have led to confusion and denial of entry to a particular Afghan national," Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said.

Kargar, who represents Faryab province of Afghanistan and is an independent MP, claimed she was denied entry upon arrival from Istanbul despite holding a diplomatic passport which allows her a visa-free entry into India under an agreement between the two nations.

She claimed she had travelled for medical reasons and had an appointment at a South Delhi hospital and was scheduled to leave India on August 22.

Most Indians who wanted to leave Afghanistan have returned, informs Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday said that it is unaware of the exact number of citizens still stranded in Afghanistan, but most of those who wanted to return have been evacuated from the war-torn country.

"The numbers keep changing. Our overall assessment is that the vast majority of Indians who wish to return have been evacuated. Some more are likely to be in Afghanistan. I don't have the exact number for that," Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said. He added that New Delhi is carefully monitoring the evolving situation.

Elaborating on the evacuation efforts, Bagchi said India has so far evacuated over 550 people in six flights directly from Kabul or via Dushanbe since the Taliban took over the reins in Afghanistan. Of the total number of evacuees, around 260 are Indians, while the rest are Afghans and nationals of other countries.

Saying that India was in touch with various countries like the US, Iran, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan, the Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson added that Uzbekistan and Iran's air space was opened up for India for evacuation sorties. "Of the evacuees, many of them were Sikhs and Hindus. Primarily, our focus will be on Indian nationals, but we will also stand by Afghans who have stood by us," he added.

On the Afghan evacuees, Bagchi said they have not been granted refugee status but given e-visa for a tenure of six months. "The situation is evolving. We will take a call depending upon the situation after six months regarding the status of the visa," the MEA spokesperson mentioned.

He added that discussions are on with regard to the fate of the visas of those Afghans who were already in India before the evacuation process began.

India monitoring activities of Haqqani network

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

INDIAN security agencies have ramped up human and technical intelligence further after the Kabul airport bombings which are believed to have been carried out by ISIS-K.

According to sources, Thursday's blasts have further strengthened fears that Afghanistan is becoming a safe haven for anti-India terror groups. "We have employed resources to track movements of terror groups, which may find new life after Taliban's takeover of Afghanistan. We are keeping a close eye on all movement," said a source.

India is monitoring the movements of Anas and Khalil al-Rehman Haqqani, who is a designated terrorist and a vital part of the Haqqani network. He has been appointed chief of the country's security. The Haqqani network is of particular interest to Indian security agencies, as it is believed to be an extension of ISI and which played a vital role in the resurgence of Taliban. They have close ties with Lashkar-e-Toiba and Jaish-e-Mohammad.

A report tabled by US Treasury department squarely blamed the terror attack on Sikhs in Kabul in 2020 on the Pakistan-based Haqqani network. The same report also expressed apprehensions of the network allying with al-Qaida to form a new joint unit.

India's fears have reflected apprehensions of other countries and agencies. In June, a UN report noted that "the Haqqani Network remains the Taliban's most combat-ready forces" adding that it "has a skilled core of members".

Poll panel creates fund to collect 'contempt' fines

KUMAR VIKRAM @New Delhi

ACTING upon the Supreme Court direction on criminal antecedents of political candidates, Election Commission has created a fund in which fines collected from contempt of court proceedings can be deposited. Among other directions, the court had said that such a fund must be created.

EC sources said that work on creating a dedicated app for publication of criminal antecedents of political candidates is in progress. The poll panel on Friday wrote letters to all national and state political parties and informed them about its initiative. The letter was also sent to state election commission offices.

"In compliance of the Supreme Court directions, Election Commission of India has created a fund in which fines for contempt of court can be deposited," said the letter.

The court had on August 10 directed the Election Commission to create a dedicated mobile application containing information published by the candidates regarding their criminal antecedents so that voter gets the information on his or her mobile phone.

The poll panel was also directed to create a separate cell to monitor compliance and apprise the court of non-compliance on the part of any political party of the directions issued by the court.

The apex court had held several political parties guilty of contempt during the 2020 Bihar Assembly polls, for disobeying an order requiring them to publish antecedents of candidates within 48 hours of selection or not less than two weeks before filing of nominations and imposed varying fines on them.

BCI framing rules to curb lawyer strikes

BCI chairperson Manan Kumar Mishra made submissions before a bench headed by Justice DY Chandrachud. The court was hearing an appeal filed by District Bar Association, Dehradun, against a judgment of the Uttarakhand High Court holding strikes of courts by advocates to be illegal.

Last year in February, the apex court took a serious view of lawyers holding strikes every Saturday for 35 years in Uttarakhand district courts and warned the advocates of action if they persisted with it.

Schools to remain shut in Bengal, Kerala

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA
@ New Delhi

WITH Delhi joining states cautiously reopening schools despite the Covid-19 pandemic, there are a few states where educational institutes will remain shut in September.

The states and UTs where the local administration is yet to decide on this iclude Kerala, West Bengal, Jammu and Kashmir, Goa and Puducherry. Other than Kerala, where the Covid situation is the worst in the country, it is more or less stable in other states.

In other states, students have either been called or are being called back to classrooms from the first week of next month, although attendance in places where schools started in July and August have remained low. In most states, a cap of 50% attendance has been imposed and schools have also been instructed to offer a choice of online or offline mode.

While a majority of the states have decided to open only secondary and senior secondary schools, Andhra Pradesh has allowed opening of schools at all levels including nursery. Experts have opined that young kids are particularly less susceptible to serious disease. The Centre, while stressing on vaccination of school teachers and other support staff, has promised a supply of two crore vaccine doses for them.

The announcement by the Delhi government, meanwhile, comes a day after NK Arora, chief of Centre's working group on Covid-19, insisted that the time has come for schools to resume classes in a phased manner. He also suggested that teachers, non-teaching staff as well as drivers associated with schools should be vaccinated to create a protective ring around the students, reiterating that "children don't get very sick with Covid-19".

On Friday, over 50 doctors, public health experts, academicians and scientists also issued an open letter saying that school closure is "no longer tenable, especially for our younger children who are at the least risk from Covid-19 and face the highest cost due to school closure".

Highest single-day vax doses in India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

OVER 1 crore doses of Covid-19 vaccine doses were administered in India on Friday, the highest daily record so far. While the number reported till late evening was 1,00,64,032, it is set to rise as the final vaccination figures for the day get updated. Experts have estimated that at least 1 crore doses need to be administered everyday in order to meet the target of fully inoculating all 94 crore adults by the year-end.

Letters to Kerala, Maha

Union Health Secretary Rajesh wrote to Kerala on Friday, asking the state to step up measures for curbing transmission. In a letter to Maharashtra, he advised restrictions on public gatherings.

The total doses administered have now crossed 62 crores.

Reliance vaccine trials

An expert panel under the apex drug regulator has recommended human trials of the Covid-19 vaccine made by the Mukesh Ambani-owned Reliance Life Sciences.

Following the recommendation by the subject expert committee of the Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation, the Drug Controller General of India is likely to approve early stage clinical trials. This is a recombinant protein-based vaccine, designed to be administered in two doses. It has been tested on animals. Green light from DCGI could mean that the vaccine can be assessed for safety before late stage trial begins.

Rawat seeks to log out of Punjab

Wants to prepare for U'khand poll; Sidhu demands full autonomy in ultimatum to AICC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chandigarh/New Delhi

AICC general secretary Harish Rawat, the troubleshooter deployed to quell the factional feud in its Punjab unit, on Friday urged the high command to relieve him of the Punjab duties. The request came a day after Navjot Singh Sidhu gave an ultimatum to the high command, demanding full autonomy in decision making.

Addressing traders and industrialists, Punjab Congress president Sidhu on Thursday said: "I cannot be a dummy chief who is not allowed to take decisions. If allowed to work according to my policy of hope and faith, I can ensure Congress rule in the state for 20 years. But if you do not allow me to take decisions, then I will give strong answers to every resistance. I do not want to be a show horse."

Rawat, however, said Sidhu was not a dummy chief, but he would look into the context of his statement. "State chiefs have full powers. They can decide on anything within the party constitution," said Rawat, who earlier urged the high command to be relieved of the Punjab duties.

Apparently, he cited his additional responsibility as the party's campaign committee chairman for the poll-bound Uttarakhand as the reason for his request. He is also the party's in-charge for Punjab affairs. Days after asserting Amarinder Singh would lead the Congress' charge in the upcoming election, Rawat met Congress President Sonia Gandhi and apprised her of the situation in Punjab. "I conveyed what the party leaders had told me. I have told her that all of them will follow her instructions. There have been a few problems in Punjab, but we are trying to solve them. The situation is under control," he maintained.

On a day Sidhu's newly-appointed advisor Malwinder Singh Mali resigned over his controversial comment on Kashmir, Amarinder Singh, who had sought to corner Sidhu by launching a scathing attack on Mali, met former chief minister Rajinder Kaur Bhattal at her official residence.

Meanwhile, amid the ongoing tussle in the ruling Congress in Punjab, opposition parties, including the AAP and SAD, on Friday asked the Amarinder Singh-led government to prove its majority in the Assembly. A delegation of AAP MLAs led by Leader of Opposition met the Governor here and claimed that the Congress government was 'in minority'.

BJP may contest on only its seats to keep Oppn votes intact

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE BJP is keenly watching the churn in the Punjab Congress, with dominant views wanting to focus only on those seats it had previously won to avoid division of the anti-incumbency votes. The BJP will also be looking at the post-poll prospects in Punjab in the liklihood of a multi-cornered contests, including mending fences with the estranged former ally Shiromani Akali Dal.

Punjab, along with UP, Uttarakhand, Manipur and Goa, is heading for Assembly elections in February-March next year, with the incumbent Amarinder Singh-led Congress set to complete two consecutive terms in the state. The BJP in the last polls had won three seats after contesting from 23 in an alliance with SAD.

"The BJP will not be giving the Congress the advantage of the split in the vote base which favours change in the state. Even while the BJP is without an ally in the state, the party may not be expansionist and tactically focus only on a few seats with high winnability probability," said a senior BJP functionary.

The SAD-BJP alliance in the past seemingly worked on the chemistry of the stitching the social bases of rural Jat Sikhs and urban Hindu voters.

The SAD left the NDA after the Parliament enacted three contentious farm laws, which brought waves of the Punjab farmers to the outskirts of the national capital in protest.

Future tense as Tripura BJP leaders meet Didi's nephew

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

BJP leader from Tripura and former Leader of Opposition during the Left Front regime in the northeastern state, Sudip Roy Barman, reached Kolkata on Thursday with two MLAs, triggering speculation that the TMC was engineering a mass defection from the saffron camp in Tripura.

Sources said the BJP lawmakers held their first phase of meeting with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's nephew Abhishek Banerjee, who is also the party's national general secretary. Sources in the TMC said more BJP functionaries from Tripura are likely to visit Kolkata shortly. After securing victory for third straight term in Bengal, Mamata had announced the expansion of her party's activities in Tripura. The TMC aims to revamp its organisation in the state by December 31.

Recently, TMC inducted Sushmita Dev, the national president of the Congress's women wing, into its ranks. And if it manages to wean Sudip Burman, son of former Congress chief minister Samir Ranjan Barman, it would be a big catch in the state bordering Bangladesh.

"Many BJP leaders in Tripura are in touch with us. If Abhishek wants he can derail BJP-led government in Tripura now. But he will follow the democratic way and overthrow the BJP in the 2023 Assembly elections," said TMC spokesperson Kunal Ghosh.

BJP pegs poll strategy on Kalyan Singh's legacy

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

BY naming roads, medical institutions and Aligarh airport after BJP stalwart Kalyan Singh and taking out an Asthi Kalash Yatra of the late leader, the BJP has signaled its intent to play up his legacy of blending the Hindutva narrative with OBC politics in the state ahead of the Assembly election early next year.

Singh is considered the tallest OBC leader in the state, who rose to fame with the temple movement and became the Hindu Hriday Samrat. It was during his first stint as the chief minister of UP that the disputed structure at Ayodhya was demolished on December 6, 1992. Following the demolition, he resigned flashing the victory sign and claiming he had fulfilled his promise to Ram devotees.

Political pundits believe that both the Yogi Adityanath government and the state BJP unit are going the whole hog to unveil various initiatives to capitalise on Kalyan's OBC-Hindutva connect. Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath had taken everything under his control, right from receiving the mortal remains of Kalyan Singh at SGPGIMS on August 21 night to escorting it for the last rites at Bansi Ghat in Narora on August 23.

"The party has done everything to make the stature of Kalyan Singh amply clear to the people of UP. His demise has not only reignited the Hindutva sentiment but also his attributes as the OBC leader may come handy to BJP in the 2022 polls," says Prof AK Mishra, a political scientist.

According to sources, while part of the ashes of the late leader were immersed in Ganga in Narora by the family on Friday, preparations are on to immerse rest in major rivers of UP, including Ganga in Varanasi and Saryu in Ayodhya.

Shraddhanjali Sabhas are being organised across the state. The first one was held in Ayodhya by the saints and seers to pay tributes to Kalyan Singh on Thursday.

"Numerically, OBCs make the biggest chunk of voting population in UP. So, the BJP is trying hard to connect with OBCs in Kalyan's name who belonged to Lodh, a sub-caste of OBCs," said Prof Mishra.

BJP has recently promoted Rajya Sabha MP BL Verma, a protégé of Kalyan as the Union minister of state, and is likely to be entrusted with carrying out one of the seven Jan Ashirwad Yatras in the state.

Fit to lead, no succession for now: Maya

LAUNCHING a broadside on the Congress for 'defaming' her party in a recently-released booklet, BSP chief Mayawati claimed she was fully fit to lead the party, but whenever a successor would be appointed, he/she would be a Dalit. The BSP chief was interacting with the media persons here on Friday.

Calling its condition precarious, Mayawati said Congress' rallies were attended by crowd paid for attendance. "Congress is devoid of cadre and is facing a paucity of candidates. They hardly get candidates to contest elections in UP. Congress pays money to people to contest election on its ticket," claimed Mayawati.

When asked about her successor, Mayawati said that she was fit. "In future, if my heath does not permit, I will appoint my successor from among Dalits. At present, I am capable of taking care of my party," she said.

5 'invisible' Covid orphan siblings spotted after months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

THREE months after Madhya Pradesh became the first state in the country to announce a slew of welfare measures for Covid orphans, five little Scheduled Caste siblings — three girls and two boys — in Amaha village of Bhind district are still awaiting assistance for want of paperwork.

They were completely invisible to the administration till the local MLA spotted them recently.

Their rickshaw driver father Raghvendra Valmiki succumbed to Covid in January, while mother Girija died two months later. Panchayat officials claim both possibly died due to Covid, but there is no documentation yet.

At seven, the eldest is a girl who is now shouldering the responsibility of a parent because the granddad they live with doesn't care. Her youngest sibling is an eight-month-old boy. They live in a partially damaged hut near the village's cremation ground and are surviving on food and milk offered by villagers.

"Our parents died during the Corona wave. We request the government to provide us a house, food, a safe drinking water connection and education," said the eldest. It was local Congress MLA Dr Govind Singh who spotted them during a recent visit to the village. He immediately offered ₹2,000 to the orphans and asked the village sarpanch and secretary to pool in ₹10,000 each. Singh also granted them ₹20,000 from his Local Area Development Fund, but since they do not have a bank account, the money is yet to reach them.

Panchayat secretary Ashok Parasar admitted to their lapse. "We didn't act in time. The orphans don't have any valid ID/residential proof. We've now got them Aadhaar cards. Other paperwork is on. Singh has assured to get the children all benefits under the Below Poverty Line schemes as soon as all documents are ready," Parasar said.

Bhind district collector Satish Kumar S said a team from the women and child development department has already visited the village and completed the social and family survey of the children.

"We're also trying to shift the kids to a proper children home. Evidence is being collected to figure out whether they are eligible for the Covid orphans scheme," he said. The collector added that the children's grandfather, who was not taking their proper care, was counselled.

"Our parents died during the pandemic. We have nothing to eat and are completely dependent on the largesse of the villagers," said the eldest of the five siblings.

In May last, Madhya Pradesh had announced a slew of measures for the welfare of the Covid orphaned children.

Cong suggests Sood, Ritesh & Milind as mayor face

The Mumbai Congress has prepared a blueprint to take on the BJP and the Shiv Sena in the upcoming Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation elections, which are scheduled for February 2022. The document prepared after much brainstorming suggests that the Congress should project and declare film actors Sonu Sood, Ritesh Deshmukh or Milind Soman as its mayoral candidate. This out-of-the-box suggestion, party leaders claimed, would help draw people without political affiliations towards it and even make it big in the BMC elections.

Pawar unhappy with leaders' performance

NCP chief Sharad Pawar had expressed displeasure over the functioning of the leaders of the frontal organisations. Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar, who last on last Thursday convened a meeting of state party president Jayant Patil, organisational presidents and office-bearers, conveyed the party patriarhc's displeasure. They were told that instead of reaching out to the people, the party post holders were mostly camped in Mumbai. Ajit Pawar has all present during the meeting to pull their socks up and spread the word on the party's achievements to every nook and cranny of the state.

IN KABUL, A DESPERATE SEARCH FOR SURVIVORS

Evacuation flights from Afghanistan resume with urgency after two suicide bombings on Aug 26 killed dozens of people fleeing Taliban takeover

KABUL

A boy sobbed in the back of a car in Kabul on Friday, squeezed beside the coffin of a relative killed in the devastating blasts that quickly overwhelmed the city's hospitals. He was among a crowd of people who gathered at the capital's Emergency Hospital to collect bodies of loved ones after Thursday's bombings outside Kabul airport. Bowing his reddened face between his crossed arms and wiping away tears with his scarf, the boy stared down at the plywood box, wrapped shut with a white sheet.

Another Afghan, Abdul Majeed, came to the clinic to look for his brother, an 11th-grade student who was at the airport with no documents or papers, desperate to escape the "troubles" of his home country. "He wanted to fly abroad," said Majeed. "Unfortunately, he's missing after the back-to-back blasts."

The bombs ripped through crowds massed outside the airport, hoping to flee new Taliban rule as the deadline for evacuations drew closer. Scores died, including 13 US servicemen, in the Islamic State-claimed attacks.

Majeed said overnight he saw hundreds of people, dead and alive, brought to the hospital, a major trauma clinic. "I saw every one with my own eyes. My brother was not among them," he said. "I have searched all the hospitals in Kabul but I have failed to find him."

Others also came on foot, exhausted after a sleepless night, to sit in groups on the pavement outside the walls of the medical centre, waiting for news from within. One man emerged from the gates clutching his mobile phone, showing a picture to those gathered outside of a loved one receiving treatment. The bomb victim is lying in a bed, his eyes closed and face bandaged.

Meanwhile, the scene of one of the deadly blasts at the airport was silent and deserted except for a couple of armed guards.

Birds sang in the Kabul sunshine, but the bloodstained clothes that lay scattered on the ground bore testament to the horror of the attacks the day before. AFP

Global outrage over 'barbaric' airport attack

PARIS

THE Taliban has joined global leaders in condemning Thursday's twin suicide bomb attacks on a mammoth airlift operation put in place after the Taliban seized control of Afghanistan.

United States President Joe Biden vowed to hunt down those behind the suicide bombings that killed 13 American troops in the worst single-day loss for the Pentagon in Afghanistan since 2011. "We will not forgive. We will not forget. We will hunt you down and make you pay," Biden, visibly shaken, said in a White House address during which he said evacuations of vulnerable people would continue until August 31. "Knowing the threat, knowing that we may very well have another attack, the military has concluded that that's what we should do. I think they are right."

The Taliban slammed the blasts, but pointed out they happened in an area that was under the control of US military. "The Islamic Emirate strongly condemns the bombing targeting civilians at Kabul airport," the group's spokesman tweeted. "The explosion took place in an area where US forces are responsible for security."

Russia also blasted the attacks "in the strongest possible terms", while China said it was "shocked" by the explosions.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson condemned "barbaric" attack, paying tribute to the "phenomenal effort" of those involved in the evacuation operation. He said that Britain would "keep going up until the last moment". AFP

Blasts trigger new urgency to airlift

KABUL

EVACUATION flights from Afghanistan resumed with new urgency on Friday, a day after two suicide bombings targeted the thousands of people desperately fleeing a Taliban takeover and killed dozens. The US warned more attacks could come ahead of next week's end to America's longest war.

Two officials said 169 Afghans died, but a final count might take time amid confusion, with many bodies dismembered or not yet identified. Scores more were wounded in the blasts. The officials spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to speak to the media. The US said 13 troops were killed in the deadliest day for American forces in Afghanistan since August 2011.

As Afghan officials struggled to deal with the dead, at least 10 bodies lay on the grounds outside Wazir Akbar Khan Hospital, where relatives said the mortuary could take no more.

As the call to prayer echoed Friday through Kabul along with the roar of departing planes, the crowds outside the city's airport appeared as large as ever despite the risks. They are acutely aware that the window is closing to board a flight before the airlift ends and Western troops withdraw.

The US said more than 1,00,000 people have been safely evacuated from Kabul, but thousands are struggling to leave in one of history's largest airlifts. The White House said on Friday that 8,500 evacuees were flown out aboard US military aircraft in the previous 24 hours, along with about 4,000 on coalition flights. That is about the same total as the day before the attacks. AFP

WHAT I.S. HAS UNLEASHED IN AFGHANISTAN

PARIS: The twin suicide bombs by the Islamic State group's Afghanistan and Pakistan chapter that killed scores of people outside Kabul airport Thursday is one of many claimed by or attributed to the jihadists in Afghanistan. The group has shocked the world with its brazen targeting of civilians — in May 2020 Washington blamed IS-K for an attack on a maternity hospital in a Shiite neighbourhood of the capital that killed 25 people including newborns. Here is a recap of some of the attacks over the last five years either claimed by the jihadists or for which they are widely suspected of being responsible. AFP

2021: School horror

A series of bombings outside a school in west Kabul on May 8 kill at least 85 people, mostly young girls, and wound more than 300 in an attack on a mainly Shiite Hazara community. The explosions rock the district of Dasht-e-Barchi as residents are out shopping ahead of celebrations marking the end of Ramadan, in an attack that IS-K is strongly suspected of having carried out.

2019: Wedding massacre

A suicide bombing rips through a packed wedding hall in west Kabul on August 17, killing 91 people and wounding 180 in a blast so powerful it blows much of the roof off the massive building. IS-K claims responsibility, saying the bomber targeted the wedding because it was largely a gathering of Shiite Muslims, frequently targeted by militants in Sunni-majority Afghanistan.

UN warns of up to 5L more refugees by year end

Geneva: The United Nations said on Friday it was bracing for a possible exodus from Afghanistan of up to half a million more refugees by the end of 2021. "We are preparing for around 500,000 new refugees in the region. This is a worst-case scenario," Kelly Clements, the deputy high commissioner of the UN refugee agency, told reporters. AFP

Turkey says Taliban want it to run airport

Istanbul: The Taliban asked Turkey to operate Kabul airport but no decision has been made yet, Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said on Friday. He said a meeting with the Taliban lasting more than three hours took place in Kabul, without saying when it happened. AP

2 yrs, fallout mounts from 'Ibiza-gate'

VIENNA

AUSTRIA'S former vice-chancellor Heinz-Christian Strache was convicted by a Vienna court on Friday over graft charges linked to the giant "Ibiza-gate" scandal, which is still roiling national politics two years after it broke. Strache, who was one of Europe's most high-profile far-right leaders, was given a 15-month suspended jail sentence.

This is the first ruling stemming from the Ibizagate scandal, which led to Strache resigning as vice-chancellor and head of the far-right Freedom Party (FPOe).

The scandals can be traced back to a meeting in 2017 on the Spanish resort island of Ibiza between Strache, then leader of the far-right Freedom Party (FPOe), and a woman posing as the niece of a Russian oligarch.

Strache was filmed promising the woman state contracts in exchange for helping his party to campaign for elections on an anti-migration, anti-Islam platform. AFP

At least 15 killed as massive fire breaks out at chemical factory in Pakistan

KARACHI

AT LEAST 15 labourers were killed after a massive fire broke out in a chemical factory in Pakistan's commercial capital of Karachi on Friday, police said. The factory, located in the populated Korangi industrial area, caught fire when around 26 workers were present in the building, Korangi SSP Shah Jehan said, adding that rescue operations were on to find the other workers.

Fire brigade officials said that the incident happened when the blaze started in a drum of chemical used to manufacture various items and spread across the factory, Geo TV reported. Faisal Edhi, a rescue official, said 15 bodies have been taken out from the fire site. "It is a chemical factory and apparently the fire broke out due to some short circuit but we are assisting in locating all the workers," he said.

Jehan said there were still some people trapped inside the building and might have died.

"We were inside the building and we had started working when the fire broke out and spread quickly. We shouted for help but no one heard us," Shahid, a worker at the factory, was quoted as saying.

Two fire fighters were injured while trying to put out the flames, the report said.

Karachi Administrator Murtaza Wahab said that the fire department was alerted of the blaze at 10am and departed a minute later, rejecting reports that the fire brigade arrived late to extinguish the fire. He confirmed that the fire has been extinguished. PTI

Banjul: The Gambia has formally blocked flights returning migrants deported from the European Union (EU), a sensitive political issue in the tiny West African state, which argues that it cannot reintegrate them. The move comes ahead of a presidential election in December, and some have interpreted it as a bid to boost electoral support ahead of the poll. AFP

Indian fintechs raise $1.26 bn in Q2

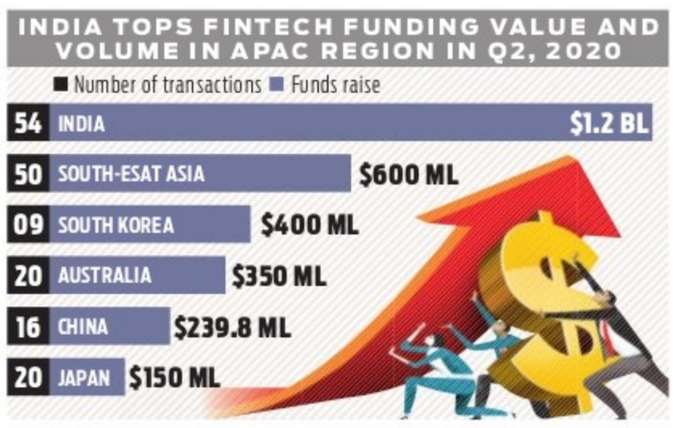
With 54 deals of fund-raise, India beats China and other countries in Asia Pacific region

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S vibrant financial technology ecosystem has pipped some fierce competitors including China in terms of funds-raise for Q2, 2021, according to a recent research by S&P Global Intelligence. India topped the fintech funding value at $1.26 billion across 54 deals for the quarter while China saw declining investments at $239.8 million, the report stated. Chinese government's strict crackdown on private internet firms, which led to exodus of cash deployment from the country, has come to benefit the Indian firms.

Some of the largest deals in the Asia Pacific region were led by Indian companies including Merchants payments platform Pinelabs (which raised $285 million), SaaS platform Zeta ($250 million), credit card payment start-up CRED($215 million), payment gateway Razorpay ($160 million), and weatlth tech start-up Groww ($83 million).



INDIA TOPS FINTECH FUNDING VALUE AND VOLUME IN APAC REGION IN Q2, 2020
Number of transactions
Funds raise
54 INDIA $1.2 BL
50 SOUTH-ESAT ASIA $600 ML
09 SOUTH KOREA $400 ML
20 AUSTRALIA $350 ML
16 CHINA $239.8 ML
20 JAPAN $150 ML

How does India fare against China's fintech scene?

The upcoming Initial Public Offerings (IPOs) including that of Paytm and Policy Bazaar is set to further boost the prospects of India's fintech industry. Noida-based One 97 communications, parent firm of Paytm, has filed for $2.22-billion IPO whereas insurtech firm Policy Bazaar seeks to raise $809.4 million through an impending listing in October.

Meanwhile, Chinese fintech firms saw declining funding value and activity, attracting just $239.8 million across 16 deals in the second quarter, against $351.4 million across 21 deals in the previous quarter. Recent regulatory changes marring the listing prospects of Chinese tech companies may further weigh on fintech investments in the country going forward, Celeste Goh, Market Intelligence Analyst, wrote in a blog post. Experts see the investment trend in China's fintech sector to reverse in upcoming quarters due to proposed easing of regulations.

Indians on acquisition spree

The free-flow of capital during H1, 2021 from private venture capital/ equity firms has given enough firepower to India's major fintech firms for acquiring niche companies. Flush with fresh funds, the payment gateway acquired TERA Finlabs in July to scale up its lending business. Razorpay is also on a lookout for other acquisition in B2B SaaS companies with core competencies in accounting and expense management to strengthen its offerings.

ASIANOMICS

CHINA

CHINA PLANS TO BAN IPOS FOR TECH FIRMS WITH DATA RISK

China is framing rules to ban internet firms, whose data poses potential security risks from listing outside the country, including in the United States, according to a Reuters report. The ban may be imposed on companies involved in ideology issues. Beijing said last month it planned to strengthen supervision of all firms listed offshore, a sweeping regulatory shift that came after a cybersecurity investigation into ride-hailing giant Didi Global just days after its US listing. Under the planned rules, the Chinese securities regulator would tighten scrutiny of overseas IPO-bound firms and ban those that collect vast amount of users data or create content that could pose possible security risks. All Internet firms would be asked to voluntarily apply for reviews with the powerful Cybersecurity Administration of China (CAC) if they aim to list their shares outside China. The plan is one of several proposals under consideration by Chinese regulators as Beijing has tightened its grip on the country's Internet platforms in recent months, including looking to sharpen scrutiny of overseas listings.

THAILAND

THAILAND EASES CURBS ON RETAIL AND RESTAURANTS

Thailand will lift most coronavirus restrictions on retail and dining from next month and permit gatherings of up to 25 people in Bangkok and other high risk areas, its Covid-19 task force said on Friday. The restrictions, which have been in effect for over a month in some provinces, will be eased from September 1. Easing restrictions and adjusting measures were necessary to revive the economy safely, the task force said, as the country battles its worst coronavirus outbreak and struggles to ramp up vaccinations, with only one in 10 people inoculated so far. From next month, shopping malls, salons, barber shops, foot massages and sports fields in 29 high-risk provinces including Bangkok are allowed to resume operations, while restaurants can open to diners, the task force said. Authorities asked business operators to ensure service staff are fully vaccinated and regularly tested with antigen kits, and to require customers to show proof of vaccination and negative tests.

HONG KONG

HONG KONG HOME PRICES NEAR RECORD HIGH

Hong Kong private home prices rose 0.46% in July, official data showed on Friday, just short of a record high, supported by strong pent-up demand and hopes that mainland Chinese buyers will soon return. The prices in one of the most expensive property markets gained for the seventh month in a row, according to last month's data, and compared with a revised 0.1% increase in June. Realtors expect the price index, which stood at 396.3 in July, will break the 396.9 record posted in May 2019 in the third quarter. According to an index of realtor Centaline that tracks the secondary home market, prices broke a historical high in early August, before softening 0.5% in the following week. As per a real estate agent, Midland expects overall home prices could rise at a slower pace until the border with mainland China reopens. Hong Kong's one-month interbank rate, which many mortgage rates are linked to, stayed at over 11-year lows and also helped to support the market.

Non-filers of 2 GSTR-3B to be barred from filing GSTR-1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GST registered person or business shall not be allowed to furnish the details of outward supplies of goods or services or both in Form GSTR-1, if he has not furnished the return in Form GSTR-3B for preceding two months, according to the new rule which will be effective from September 1, an official advisory said.

While businesses file GSTR-1 of a particular month by the 11th day of the subsequent month, GSTR-3B, through which businesses pay taxes, is filed in a staggered manner between 20th-24th day of the succeeding month.

In an advisory to taxpayers, GSTN, which manages the technology backbone for Goods and Services Tax, said that Rule-59(6) of Central GST Rules.

For taxpayers filing quarterly return, GSTR-1 filing would be restricted if he has not furnished the return in Form GSTR-3B for preceding tax period. "This check will operate on clicking the SUBMIT button of GSTR-1 and the system will give an error message if the condition of Rule-59(6) is not met. It may be noted that records which have been saved in GSTR-1 will remain saved and filing of such records will be permitted after Rule-59(6) is complied with," GSTN said.

Govt mulls tweak in IBC to add par panel's suggestions

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

THE central government is planning to include some of the recommendations mentioned in the report by the parliamentary standing committee on Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code and is likely to start brainstorming to make the process more efficient.

"We have studied the report submitted by the parliamentary panel. It is an evolving law so there is scope for further fine-tuning. It's not possible to take all the recommendation but officials of both ministry of finance and ministry of corporate affairs are engaging with various stakeholders to accommodate some of it," a senior official told TNIE.

He added that the consultation process will be over by winter session and the government will be ready with some of the amendments, if required and agreed on.

In the monsoon session of the parliament, Standing Committee on Finance had slammed the exceptionally high haircuts taken by the banks under the Insolvancy and Bankruptcy Code, and had underscored that 13,000 cases worth ₹9 lakh crore are still pending.

Overcoming sub-optimal output must, says CEA

Chief Economic Adviser Krishnamurthy Subramanian, on Friday, said that those involved in the insolvency procedures need to overcome sub-optimal output. "When we think of the concept of dharma from an economic angle, you start realising that why it was such a powerful idea. In the case of IBC, there are some actions that every stakeholder can take which will be optimal for the entire IBC system as a whole vis-a-vis what every entity doing that is privately optimal for them," he said.

Meanwhile, the IBBI has released a consultation paper laying down the Code of Conduct for Committee of Creditors, one of the recommendations of the parliamentary committee. It was also a long-pending demand from insolvency professional.

The committee had also called for overhauling the NCLT by taking care of personnel shortages, selecting more experienced judicial members including high court judges, and taking steps to reduce the time taken to admit a case into NCLT and then passing it through the process.

Tata Sons increases shareholding in 5 associate/JV companies in 2020-21

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA Sons has tightened grip over some of its associate and subsidiary companies as it increased shareholding in five of its existing businesses last year even as it continues to invest in new businesses like Tata Digital and Tata Electronics Private Ltd, the company's latest annual report said.

Tata Sons increased its stake in Tata Communications to 58.86% through Panatone Finvest, a subsidiary of the company, by way of subscription of OFS by the government of India in March. Tata Sons acquired the government's 26.12% stake in Tata Communications through an offer for sale at ₹8,846 crore in 2020-21.

In another major consolidation, Tata Sons acquired a 32.67% stake from Air Asia Malaysia in its India operations in December 2020, increasing its shareholding in Air Asia India from 51% to 83.67%.

₹1 lakh-cr investment in pipeline to expand refineries: IOC chairman

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

FUEL marketer and refiner Indian Oil Corporation (IOCL) will invest nearly ₹1 lakh crore over the next half a decade in order to increase its refining capacity, said company chairman Shrikant Madhav Vaidya on Friday.

The investments will result in refining capacity expansion of over 25 million metric tonne per annum, Vaidya told the company's shareholders at its annual general meeting.

These capacity expansions are aimed at addressing the expected increase in fuel demand over the next several years. Indian fuel demand is expected to climb to nearly 450 million tonnes by 2040, nearly double the current consumption level of 250 million tonnes per annum, Vaidya noted.

"This offers enough legroom for all forms of energy to co-exist," he said. The 25 million metric tonne capacity expansion will be driven by projects across existing facilities owned by both Indian Oil and subsidiary Chennai Petroleum Corp (CPCL). IOC currently operates 11 refineries producing various petroleum products such as petrol and diesel with a cumulative capacity of 81.2 million tonnes per annum.

The company now plans to increase capacity at its facilities in Koyali, Gujarat (from 13.7 million tonnes to 18 million tonnes) and Panipat, Haryana (from 15 million tonnes to 25 million tonnes). Capacity expansions are also planned for its Guwahati, Assam, and Barauni, Bihar, while a new plant is to be built by CPCL.

According to Vaidya, IOC is also planning to integrate current refining processes to yield more products for every barrel of crude oil processed. "This will intensify petrochemical and lubricant integration leading to a diversified product portfolio and attain profit maximisation. In fact, integration projects, like the upcoming Styrene Monomer Project at Panipat or the Lube Integration Project at Gujarat Refinery will also reduce India's import dependence and strengthen the promise of an Aatmanirbhar Bharat," he said.

Integration projects, like the upcoming Styrene Monomer Project at Panipat or the Lube Integration Project at Gujarat Refinery will also reduce India's import dependence

SM Vaidya, IOC chairman

The company is also expanding its green energy focus, with Vaidya noting that IOCL is exploring forays into CNG and LNG as fuel for automobiles, hydrogen-spiked CNG for long-haul buses, biofuels, hydrogen and e-mobility solutions. "Indian Oil is charting its course as a future-ready global energy giant and we are working on a range of scalable alternative energy options," he said.

Indiagold raises $12 million as gold pledging increases

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIAGOLD, founded by former Paytm executives Deepak Abbot and Nitin Misra, on Friday raised $12 million led by PayU, the financial technology arm of Prosus NV, and Alpha Wave Incubation.

The funding round also saw the participation of Better Tomorrow Ventures, 3one4 Capital and Rainmatter Capital as well as existing investor Leo Capital. In a country where pledging of gold is typically thought of as a matter of last resort, one-year old start-up Indiagold has a unique solution to offer. In addition to offering lockers to individuals for their gold deposits, Indiagold also offers credit facilities for the stored metal. According to RBI, loans against gold have jumped a whopping 82% since March 2020. At the same time, consumer durables and education loans are down by 21.4% and 3% respectively. "India offers a large $650-billion addressable gold loan market which is highly fragmented and currently dominated by the informal segment," Abbot and Misra said in a statement.

RBI may launch digital currency trials by Dec

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE first-ever trials for digital rupee in India may be launched by December 2021, Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das has said.

The CBDC is being explored for retail and international trade payments and currently several aspects are being examined including the security of digital currency, its impact on monetary policy and the cash in circulation. "...By December or so, we should be able to start some kind of pilot exercise. We are being extremely careful about it because it's a completely new product, not just for RBI but globally," Das said while speaking to a news channel.

Also referred to as central bank digital currencies (CBDC), the digital currency is proposed to be a legal tender in online form. In other words, the digital rupee will be the online version of the fiat currency available to the general public but it is not comparable to the private virtual currencies that have mushroomed over the last decade.

Das further noted that the central bank is contemplating the choice between using a centralised ledger for the digital currency and having a digital database with access to multiple participants — also known as distributed ledger technology (DLT). In the case of a centralised ledger, the database would be owned and operated only by the RBI.

Countries like the UK, Russia, Japan and China are already exploring the use of digital currencies. According to a 2021 BIS survey, quoted in the RBI report, 86% of the central banks surveyed are actively researching the potential for CBDCs, 60% were experimenting with the technology and 14% were deploying pilot projects. In October 2020, the Bahamas launched the world's first state-backed digital token.

₹50-lakh fine on Kotak Mahindra AMC; can't launch FMP schemes for 6 months

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Friday barred Kotak Mahindra Asset Management Company Limited from launching any new fixed maturity plan (FMPs) for the period of six months. The market regulator, which examined the case of delayed payments made in these six FMP schemes to their unit holders in 2019, also imposed a monetary penalty of ₹50 lakh on the company for violation of the provisions of Sebi Act, MF Regulations, 1996.

According to Sebi, the six FMP schemes were due for maturity in around April-May 2019, but Kotak AMC had failed to make full redemptions to its investors at the time of schemes' maturities because the said schemes had invested in Essel group, which was the promoter of Zee Entertainment Enterprises and some other companies and these companies had defaulted on their payments.

The fund house only paid the investors fully by September 2019 in violation of various Sebi norms. Kotak AMC has now been asked to refund part of the fee collected from investors for investment management and advisory with a 15% interest per annum. The interest would be calculated from FMP maturity to the date of actual payment.

New Zealand great Cairns paralysed after stroke

New Zealand cricket legend Chris Cairns has been left paralysed after suffering a stroke during a heart operation and faces "a long road to recovery", his family said Friday. Cairns, 51, one of the world's top all-rounders in the early 2000s, suffered a life-threatening heart condition this month when a tear developed in the lining of a major artery.

INDIA BEGIN THE LONG FIGHTBACK

After conceding 354-run lead, Pujara finds form as Kohli & Co end Day 3 at 215/2

VIVEK KRISHNAN @ Chennai

IT doesn't matter how probing the opposition bowlers were. It doesn't matter how favourable the conditions were for swing and seam, and how unfortunate the batting side was to keep nicking behind the wicket every time there was an error of judgment. When a side is bowled out for 36 and 78 twice in a span of less than 12 months, it is bound to create oodles of uncertainty and panic among the team's batsmen. India have been bowled out now for less than 100 on successive away tours of Australia and England within eight months of each other, but the way they have responded to those setbacks is indicative of the current team's ability and resolve.

The second innings at Headingley in Leeds is still in progress of course and India have a mountain to climb to avoid defeat here, but a much improved showing with the bat suggests that there are no mental scars among any of the Indian batsmen. At the end of Day 3, India were 215/2 — trailing by 139 runs — with Cheteshwar Pujara unbeaten on 91 and skipper Virat Kohli on 45 not out. Their unbeaten stand of 99 built on the hard work that Pujara put in alongside Rohit Sharma (59) in the second session. The conditions had eased for batting on the third day for sure, but a humongous deficit of 354 can weigh heavily on the best in the business. Far from rolling over meekly, the Indian batsmen have produced a worthy riposte in the second innings. Nobody will be more pleased than Pujara. Unlike the first innings when he came in to bat in the first over, a solid start by the openers allowed him breathing space. He joined Rohit Sharma at the crease only after lunch with the ball 19 overs old, but he was still under tremendous pressure. His returns haven't been prolific in the last couple of years and an alarming trend of pushing at deliveries away from his body on this tour had raised concerns.

On Friday, Pujara was off the blocks quickly. His pace of run-scoring is often criticised unfairly, but there was going to be no such dissection of his scoring rate on this occasion. It wasn't necessarily to do with any conscious change in approach, but the fact that he was welcomed with a generous dose of balls on his pads in the early part of his innings. He accepted those offerings gleefully as he tends to do and raced away to 22 off 28 balls. It perhaps helped him overcome any early jitters, especially with Rohit looking in pristine touch once again. If there was one shot that summed up Pujara's feisty knock, it was the manner of reaching his first fifty of the tour — bringing out the pull to dispatch a short delivery from Craig Overton through the square leg region. Just three overs later, there was a ramp over the slips as a flurry of boundaries came off Pujara's bat.

TT robot helps Bhavinaben create history

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE lockdown due to the Covid-19 pandemic last year might have brought everything to a grinding halt across the globe but not at Patel's household in Ghatlodiya, Ahmedabad (Gujarat). It instead gave Bhavinaben Patel an opportunity to practise for hours with a second-hand table tennis robot she has bought three years ago for ₹50,000.

The hard work put in during the lockdown proved to be the difference on Friday as Bhavinaben scripted history by becoming the first Indian table tennis player to secure a Paralympic medal after entering the semifinals. The 34-year-old stunned World No 5 Borislava Peric Rankovic of Serbia in the women's singles Class 4 event. She won the quarterfinal 11-5, 11-6, 11-7 in 18 minutes. She will be up against Zhang Miao of China in the semifinals on Saturday and is guaranteed of at least a bronze medal.

"We bought it in 2017 and developed a complete set up at home to ensure she trains properly. It proved to be a boon during the lockdown as unlike other athletes, she didn't stop training. She trained between 8 to 12 hours every day and that gave her an edge which was on display today (Friday)," Nikul Patel, Bhavinaben's husband, told this daily from Tokyo.

The Class 4 paddler was provided with a new robot worth Rs 2.80 lakh earlier this year after she was included in the Target Olympic Podium Scheme (TOPS). Bhavinaben fell down while learning to walk at the age of one and was administered an injection which impaired her from the waist below, informed her father Hasmukhbhai Patel. He runs a small cutlery shop in Sundhiya, a small village in Vadnagar Tehsil of Mahesana district.

Bhavinaben Patel reacts after assuring medal on Friday

"At the age of 12, she decided to shift to Blind People's Association in Vastrapur, Ahmedabad to learn computer. There she saw visually impaired children playing table tennis and decided to take up the sport. She won a bronze medal in a competitive event in the first year and that spurred her on," informed father.

Despite pursuing the sport professionally, she didn't abandon her studies and did her graduation in Sanskrit. She has more than two dozen medals in the international events so far.

Like the paddler, her parents too showed immense commitment once she qualified for the Tokyo Paralympics. "I shut the shop and reached Ahmedabad along with my wife to ensure she trains properly for the big event. We want her to stay focussed and concentrate on training," added the father.

She might have been assured a medal but that's definitely not the end, affirms Nikul. "Now the target is to cross the semifinal hurdle and once that is done, we will aim for gold. She will also compete in doubles and hope to replicate the success thereon," signed off Nikul.

The paddler also echoed the sentiment. "I could win my semifinal match due to the support of the people of India. Please keep supporting me so that I can win my semifinal match," Patel was quoted as saying after the victory.

Ronaldo joins old club United

AFP @Manchester

MANCHESTER UNITED announced on Friday they have reached a deal to re-sign Cristiano Ronaldo from Juventus, 12 years after he left Old Trafford for Real Madrid.

"Manchester United is delighted to confirm that the club has reached agreement with Juventus for the transfer of Cristiano Ronaldo, subject to agreement of personal terms, visa and medical," United said in a statement. "Everyone at the club looks forward to welcoming Cristiano back to Manchester."

United's swoop capped a tumultuous 24 hours during which Ronaldo initially seemed poised to join rivals Manchester City. Premier League champions City had been widely linked with a move for the Portuguese forward after missing out on England captain Harry Kane.

However, United manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer hinted a deal was in the offing during his pre-match press conference on Friday ahead of Sunday's Premier League trip to Wolves. "Cristiano is a legend of this club, he's the greatest player of all time, if you ask me," said Solskjaer, who played alongside Ronaldo.

Ronaldo won the first of his five Champions League titles and was first crowned the world's best player during six years at United between 2003 and 2009.

SATURDAY SPECIAL

Liverpool and Chelsea face-off in the first heavyweight clash of the Premier League season, while Arsenal face daunting Manchester City test on Saturday. A look at the matches...

LUKAKU VS VAN DIJK

Chelsea and Liverpool are two of five teams to take maximum points from two games alongside West Ham, Tottenham and Brighton. Romelu Lukaku, Chelsea's record £97 million signing, was a big menace against Arsenal but he's likely to face a stiffer test against Liverpool centre-back Virgil van Dijk — Reds' record signing in 2017 — in front of full-house Anfield. The Dutchman's presence has seen Jurgen Klopp's men keep two clean sheets in their opening games. A win for either of the two teams could send a strong signal to other title rivals.

STERN TEST FOR ARSENAL

The Gunners got a morale-boosting 6-0 win over a youthful West Brom side in the League Cup in midweek to ease the pressure on manager Mikel Arteta with captain Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang scoring a hat-trick in his first start of the season. Arteta has reportedly been given until the October international break to turn things around, but Arsenal's recent record against City is not even remotely good. City have not lost to Arsenal in the league since 2015 and can ill-afford another slip up after losing to Tottenham on the first weekend of the season.

TODAY'S FIXTURES

EPL (7.30pm unless stated): Manchester City vs Arsenal (5pm), Newcastle vs Southampton, Norwich vs Leicester, Aston Villa vs Brentford, Brighton vs Everton, West Ham vs Crystal Palace, Liverpool vs Chelsea (10pm). Live on Star Sports Network. La Liga: Celta Vigo vs Athletic Bilbai (8.30pm), Elche vs Sevilla (11pm), Real Sociedad vs Levante (11pm); Real Betis vs Real Madrid (1.30am). Live on MTV India. # Vishvanath and two others enter final

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THREE youth men pugilists from India marched into the finals of the ongoing Asian Youth and Junior Championships in Dubai, on Friday. However, two boxers from the country missed out to settle for bronze medals.

The victors on the day were Vishvanath Suresh (48kg), Bishwametra Chongtham (51kg) and Jaydeep Rawat (71kg). It was Vishvanath who took the ring first. Up against Sayed Fadel of Bahrain, Vishvanath was engaged in a cagey fight with his opponent at the start with both looking to gain early advantage. But it was the Indian who finished on a strong note with some big hits towards the close of the round.

With the judges ruling the first round in the Indian's favour, Vishvanath seemed to have gained an extra edge in his game. He seemed more assured at the start of the second round, showing some nifty footwork to circle his rival and score some good hooks and counter-punches. With the contest more or less in the bag, Vishvanath kept up his smart footwork in the final round. Every time Sayed tried to probe the Indian, Vishvanath had him on the back foot with some stinging punches.

Up next was Bishwametra, a medallist at the Youth World Championships earlier this year. He got the better of Abdurakhmonzoda Akarali 5-0 of Tajikistan to enter final. Jaydeep made a hat-trick of wins for India after edging Murasbekov Bekbol 3-2 of Kyrgyzstan. Middleweight Deepak, however, lost against Kazakhastan's Bakbergen Aliaskarov 4:1. Later, Lashu Yadav, the lone youth woman boxer from the country in action on the day, went down 0-5 against Kazakhstan's Gaukhar Shaibekova.

LONG COVID CAN LAST FOR A YEAR

Lancet calls the condition a modern medical challenge, for which there is no treatment yet

RESEARCH

PARIS: Fatigue and shortness of breath still afflict many patients a year after their hospitalisation for Covid-19, according to a new Chinese study calling for a better understanding of the pandemic's long-term health effects.

Around half of patients discharged from hospital for Covid still suffer from at least one persistent symptom — most often fatigue or muscle weakness — after 12 months, said the study published in British medical journal The Lancet.

The research, the largest yet on the condition known as "long Covid", added that one in three patients still have shortness of breath a year after their diagnosis. That number is even higher in patients hit more severely by the illness.

"With no proven treatments or even rehabilitation guidance, long Covid affects people's ability to resume normal life and their capacity to work," The Lancet said in an editorial published with the study.

"The study shows that for many patients, full recovery from Covid-19 will take more than 1 year." The study followed nearly 1,300 people hospitalised for Covid between January and May 2020 in the central Chinese city of Wuhan — the first place affected by a pandemic that has since infected 214 million people worldwide, killing more than 4 million

The share of observed patients with at least one symptom decreased from 68 per cent after six months to 49 per cent after 12 months.

Respiratory discomfort increased from 26 per cent of patients after six months to 30 per cent after 12 months, it said.

It found that affected women were 43 percent more likely than affected men to suffer from fatigue or persistent muscle weakness, and twice as likely to be diagnosed with anxiety or depression.

But it said 88 per cent of patients who worked before their diagnosis had returned to their jobs a year later.

The study adds to previous research that warned authorities in different countries that they must be prepared to provide long-term support to health workers and patients who were affected by Covid.

"Long Covid is a modern medical challenge of the first order," the editorial said, calling for more research to comprehend the condition and provide care in a better manner for the patients who suffer from the Coronavirus pandemic.

Clot risks

In a separate study on Friday, researchers from the University of Oxford found that the risk of rare blood clotting after receiving Covid-19 jabs is far lower than from the virus.

Fears over rare cases of clotting conditions have prompted some countries to rule out or limit rollout of the Oxford-developed AstraZeneca jab, with the UK recommending that healthy people under 40 get alternative vaccines.

The study published in BMJ examined data on almost 30 million people in England first vaccinated Dec-April.

Reports have focused on the AstraZeneca jab's link to cerebral venous sinus thrombosis or blood clots in the brain.

Hyperloop's biggest challenges

A new promo video recently released by US-based Virgin Hyperloop depicted the ultra-fast travel method as all good and glossy. But, critics say that it is just a hyped up computer simulation. Do these criticisms hold water? Or is hyperloop really the next big thing? We take a look

CAPACITY

Virgin's pod is capable of carrying 28 people. Even though there are claims that it could be scaled up, it is unclear whether they can compete with High Speed Rail (HSR) or magnetic levitation trains

Tens of thousands of passengers per hour per direction would require a thousand or more pods travelling every hour - or one every three seconds

Railway engineer Gareth Dennis told BBC while questioning the claims of Virgin Hyperloop

THE BASICS

Hyperloop is a proposed high-speed mass transportation system that consists of a mostly vacuum tube that transports coaches called pods at hypersonic speeds

BRIEF HISTORY

The idea of super fast magnetic levitation trains dates back to the early 1900s. Elon Musk reignited the idea in

2013

through an open-sourced proposal

FORAY INTO THE NEW TECH

Richard Branson's Virgin Hyperloop One, Elon Musk's The Boring Company, Hyperloop Transportation Technologies and India based DGWHyperloop are some of the enterprises in the field

ZERO EMISSION CLAIM

The focus is solely on emissions during operations, neglecting the lifecycle emissions during manufacturing, construction and maintenance. The HSR and maglev could also be as green as Hyperloop if operation-emissions alone are considered

10X

Hyperloop's promised speed is ten times faster than a commercial train and much faster than a passenger jet travelling at 740 to 925 kmph

1080 KMPH

Is the speed promised by Virgin, a company at the forefront of developing the technology

₹2,128

Proposed fare quoted by DGWHyperloop for a ticket in the Delhi-Mumbai route. Flight fares start at `2,453 for the same route

MUMBAI-PUNE

Virgin signed a pact with the Maharashtra govt for Mumbai-Pune route

BENGALURU-CHENNAI

Hyperloop Transportation Technologies (HTT) in talks for a Bengaluru-Chennai route. DGWHyperloop has proposed a route between Delhi and Mumbai

Dubai-Abu Dhabi Hyperloop announced in 2018

When transportation systems such as magnetic levitation trains attain high speeds, friction and air resistance (aerodynamic drag) become significant. To eliminate this, the tube system in Hyperloop has a near-vacuum environment

It can use any power source such as solar or wind and has zero emissions when it runs

It initially accelerates with electric motors which create a magnetic field that lifts the pod, allowing it to glide to superior speeds. When decelerated, the regenerative braking energy of the moving pod is converted and stored, and is used to charge the system's batteries

Note: The exact technologies used by companies vary slightly

TIME GAIN OR LOSS?

Hyperloop stations would most likely be on the outskirts of the city. So, a passenger would have to rely on other modes to reach the final destination nullifying the time gained over proven air or maglev technologies

VIABILITY

At low costs and low ridership a public entity would need to provide some sort of subsidy. It also remains unclear if the materials used for construction are lighter than building a raised HSR system to save on cost

OPERATING COSTS

There is no discussion or projection of the maintenance costs involved in operating the Hyperloop system

WEATHER FACTOR

Project proponents argue that the hyperloop is free from weather delays. While it holds true for air transport, the same advantage is available to maglev trains

LOOSE ENDS

A report titled Hyperloop Commercial Feasibility Analysis, submited to NASA, asks some important questions such as: How would emergency exits be designed in case of a rapid depressurisation? What happens if a pod is stranded in the tube? How long will the system run if the power fails?

HOT TOPIC

A stray comment on Indian food comprising only "one spice" by an international columnist has snowballed into a verbattle, with netizens debating and discussing the nuances of local cuisine

ANILA KURIAN

INDIANS take their food very seriously. And this war of words on social media going on right now only reinforces the fact. Last week, when columnist Gene Weingarten wrote an opinion piece for the Washington Post about his picky-eating habits in an article titled 'You can't make me eat these foods', he mentioned his dislike for Indian food, justifying it as "something that could knock a vulture off a meat wagon" and something that is "based entirely on spice spice."

These comments in the "humour column" haven't gone down well with Indians, with many terming it "rude and racist". Ruth Dsouza Prabhu, independent journalist and food writer, says, "Racism, bigotry and plain ignorance often wear the garb of humour. Weingarten's column has broad-brushed India's numerous cuisines and culinary heritage as being based on a "single spice". It may have been passed off as humour, but the joke is now on Gene, considering the worldwide backlash on such an uninformed, ignorant opinion. It's good to see the public call him out openly," she says.

Nandita Iyer

Rightly pointed out, several netizens, including TV host and top chef Padma Lakshmi, wrote back schooling Weingarten about the vastness of Indian cuisine.

However, Lakshmi's rebuttal faced another backlash as she generalised the cuisine. "Bengali food is heavy on seafood, mustard seeds and coconut; southerners serve mountains of rice topped with sambar," she wrote on social media.

Food critic Priya Bala, who works closely with indigenous ingredients, feels that Lakshmi should have used the platform to highlight certain aspects, rather than misguide readers. "When we mention Bengali cuisine, we're mostly talking about food from Kolkata. There are so many other varieties of dishes, including the way it's used, types of fish cuts and the use of seeds, among others, that can be spoken about," says Bala.

As someone who works closely with Mangalurean cuisine, Naren Thimmaiah, executive chef of Vivanta Bengaluru Residency Road, points out that there's a larger understanding of regional cuisine because of social media. "Within each state, the cuisine and style of cooking changes almost every 100 km. We have become possessive about the food that we are openly talking about it now," says Thimmaiah, adding that the general conception of "Indian food being spicy" also remains untrue. Because spice doesn't equal chillies. "There are different types of chillies, some of which are not spicy. These are used depending on the region the food is made in," he adds. Some like food writer and author Nandita Iyer, who aren't fond of spicy food, feel that foreigners are free to dislike our food, but that doesn't absolve the columnist from not knowing his basics about the culture and cuisine.

Like Prabhu points out though, there are things that remain unfamiliar and will continue to be labelled "exotic". "Many internationally-renowned chefs I've spoken to say that while Indian food has gone global, it is largely in cosmopolitan cities like New York where you find an understanding that goes beyond "curry" and "chilli hot". Outside of it, the understanding of its nuances remains minimal," she says.

From learning to drape the kimono to exploring the Zen culture, this course is a first-ever attempt by the Japan Foundation, New Delhi, to explore culture-focussed online sessions

Culture vulture

EXPRESS FEATURES

Wagashi (Japanese sweets), Shikki (Japanese lacquerware), Manga...these are just some of the topics that are being touched upon at a cultural exchange programme, 'Window Into Japan', organised by the Japan Foundation, New Delhi.

"Our mission is to enrich people in India's understanding of Japanese culture and society. An introduction to the country starts from its history, people and culture; one needs to know the country's values, customs and etiquette. The topics were decided so that people absorb and get immersed into culture," says Aoi Ishimaru, director of Arts and Cultural Exchange, Japan Foundation.

In addition, other areas like Japanese cuisine, Sake, Kabuki, Mizuhiki, Zen culture, Kimono, Kyogen, will be explored during the 10 sessions that will be conducted till October 16. Almost all of their projects have been online since last year due to the pandemic and have been creating projects by trial and error. "We wondered if we could create a more attractive online program, which led to the launch of this course. It is designed to give the people of India a better understanding of Japan and its culture through lectures conducted by Japanese professionals, even though it's online. We have a Japanese language course but a culture-focused one is a first-ever attempt," says Ishimaru.

The sessions are being conducted by Japanese professionals, who will show hands-on live demonstrations about the topics. "Most of the participants are young. We are happy that the young in India have an interest toward Japan," she says, adding, "The number of participants is huge; we're handling all of them via email, and also making sure they all have Zoom links. Queries have to be answered in time, else it creates anxiety among participants. We are trying our best."A certificate of participation for the course will be given once the course is completed. "I don't think other cultural organisations had done it before in India. We are overwhelmed by the response for this course. We realise a lot of people in India want to know about Japan and its culture," she says. While nearly 860 participants have enrolled for the course, the remaining 140 seats are available for one-time participants on a first-come-first served basis. For more details, log onto https://www.jfindia.org.in/

- Mix it well. Divide the mixture into 12-15 equal portions. Take one portion of the mixture and make heart shape cutlets (or any shape) using the mould.
- Heat the wok with oil and deep fry it on a medium to low flame till it is golden and crisp. Fry 5-6 at a time.
- Take out the fried cutlets on tissue paper to get rid of the extra oil. Serve hot.

SIRSA PADASANA

(FEET TO HEAD POSE)

In Sanskrit, sirsa means 'head', pada means 'foot' or 'feet', asana means 'pose.' It is an advanced backbend combined with a headstand. It is often included in the two most advanced series of Ashtanga yoga: the fifth and sixth series. It includes the benefits of strong spinal stretch and increased blood flow to the brain, and develops concentration and focus. It opens the Anahata (heart center) chakra, which is associated with love, acceptance and empathy.

STEPS

- From Sirsasana exhaling, slowly bend the legs, taking the feet back towards the direction of the head.
- Exhale, bend the hips backwards, lengthening the thighs, extending the knees, and bringing the feet close to the head. Be aware of the body's response to the stretch.
- Breathing requires a lot of effort. Keep track of how the body feels and consciously coordinate the breath.
- Your efforts to bring the feet on the head should always be from the navel and not from the knees and legs alone.
- Feel comfortable and remain in the position for about 3-4 breaths. Stay there without moving further.
- Exhale deeper in the backbend, aiming to reach your head with your feet. Bring your feet close to the head and slowly release the interlock of your fingers. Hold the big toes with your thumb and index finger.
- Stay for about 2-3 breaths or as per body's comfort, as you rest the soles on your head.
- To release, inhale, lift the feet off the head, slowly begin to flex the hips, and lift the legs up to come to Salamba Sirsasana.
- Lengthen the legs out completely and slowly release the position.
- Relax in Balasana for about 4-6 breaths.

BENEFITS

- Reduces anxiety and stress. Enhances self-confidence
- Promotes heart relaxation by directing blood to the brain.
- Revitalizing and stimulating the nervous system.
- Feels centering, calming and soothing.
- Recovering from loss of sleep and memory.
- Fortifies the spine, neck, shoulders and arms
- Tones the abdomen, legs, and the neck muscles.
- Stimulates lung tissue, relieving colds, coughs, tonsillitis, bad breath and palpitations.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from weak heart, high blood pressure and ear ache, severe spinal column ailments like lumber and cervical spondylitis, avoid this.

OF THIS AND THAT

Good morning Bangalore.

As I had rightly predicted, the tearing Afghan debate has been reduced to a whimper in our minds. The genealogists and doctors are busy debating on the advent of the third wave of Cardi-V and oppressed refugees are still hanging onto departing planes or floating on little rubber dinghies in waters that can swallow a ship. Greta Thunberg is still thundering from the pulpits her voice quivering with indignation, while the world carries on unabated. Life as usual!

Today I had an epiphany. As my home resounded with arguments on a Cardi-V Booster shots and Latin names like Alpha, Beta and Gamma were bandied about, I made a quiet observation. I often make pertinent observations, but I noticed that if I make them in a peaceful manner, I am always dismissed. Standing on a pulpit, with bulging eyes and making said observations in a loud voice has its share of takers. I made an observation on the obscene gap of 84 days and above between vaccination doses being more a 'babu' decision (lack of vaccines) than a medical one..true! Then I spoke of booster doses being a necessity..also true. Now I make my most profound observation. After a lot of research and talking to people around the world, I concluded that the vaccine and its distribution and the scare tactics that surround this pandemic, is the biggest money spinning conspiracy that all the governments of the world have jointly undertaken!

Poverty, famine and natural (or man-made) disasters have always boosted the exchequers of the unscrupulous. I remember sitting through a TEDX talk with a Ghanaian woman who made a pertinent point. She said that the African continent is the richest in natural reserves of diamonds, gold, natural gases and metals...yet Africa is the poorest continent with trillions of dollars' worth of aid coming in. Charity too, is a profitable business for some. One man's food is another man's poison! Therefore, I spare a wee thought for all those crusaders (Greta T included). Oppressive governments turn the tables on hapless victims and speakers alike. The victims are interlopers and ungrateful, while the speakers are anti-national with masterful 'tool-kits' to de-stabilise entire governments! And we,the weary citizenry...we are too busy saving our derrieres and swallowing outlandish narratives ranging from the death of an actor, to the menace of drugs, to masterful tool-kits to...anything that keeps our attention diverted from the main issues like the total breakdown of civil society as we know it and the dismal state of our basic amenities like health, infrastructure and environment.

Raunak Kundu, Deep Vu,Nirav Rajani, Rupa Balachander, David Lobo, Himanshu Asher

We fret, fume and feel insecure, but after a brief respite we start planning intimate weddings, meeting up with friends and family holidays. And pray why should I be left out of this equation? There's a huge 'fear of missing out' that assails me whenever a plan does not involve me! So when I was invited for a dinner soiree at the newly opened Vietnamese restaurant, Hanoi, I quickly accepted before my FOMO caught up with me! I am partial to Vietnamese food as the strong American and French influences on the food give it a unique flavour. Their Bahn Mi reminds me of an American sub, but it is packed with fresh greens and a piquant Asian dressing. Luckily we had a well-travelled and a food connoisseur, Rupa Balachander on hand who explained the history behind and finer nuances of the cuisine to us. The table abounded with food aficionados and the conversation veered towards an easy bonhomie with the very charming young owners, Nirav Rajani and his Vietnamese wife Diep Vu giving us interesting culinary insights. The evening ended with good humour as we laughingly scrambled into our cars before the 9pm curfew.

Hmm! I don't mind it at all. A little bit of everything.with responsibility.

Right glass matters

With constant innovation in cocktails, customised drinkware is now in vogue

MIXOLOGY
Aman Dua
(The writer is beverage programmer, Raahi Neo Kitchen and Bar)

WHEN we think of what makes a bar special, we usually think of the right liquor, the right ingredients, the right garnishes, trending cocktails and the like. But an important aspect is often overlooked, namely, the glass or drinkware. We don't realise how the right drinkware can make or mar a drink, both for appearance and elegance.

Glassware plays a major role in any good bar. Earlier, there used to be fairly standard glassware like the highball, old fashioned, and wine goblets. With the advent of new spirits and techniques, even the shape and quality of glassware has taken on a new dimension. With the "Bar Revolution" around the world, glassware has become a very important accessory. With a lot of innovation in cocktails, the type and quality of glassware too has undergone a sea change. In fact, niche bars strive to impress with the elegance of their glassware.

An example of this can be seen in the copper cup that was designed to have the famous "Moscow Mule" in. It looked a lot like a military mug. This copper mug became very popular all over the world because of the cocktail.

Bars are also now becoming more adventurous and getting their own unique drinkware created specially for the outlet. These are customised to the extent that you will rarely find the same drinkware in another bar. These are usually in tune with the theme of the bar and their unique cocktails. The outlets do not stick just to crystal or glass, but regularly use steel, copper, ceramic and other materials as well. When I opened my first bar, the concept was that the cocktails had to be invisible. I remember getting the drinkware customised at Khurja, probably the pottery capital of India. We had to make the owner of one of the biggest outlets understand our concept. Once that was done, he produced all our drinkware in copper ceramic, steel and wood, among other never before used material.

At Raahi too, I have drawn on my previous experience and designed our drinkware with many different materials. In one of the menus themed on the five elements, we used copper and terracotta as these keep drinks cool and one doesn't need ice which dilutes the drink.

An official announcement of Sapthami's inclusion in the project was made at the muhurath held on Friday. The pooja ceremony took place at Anegudde Vinayaka temple, Kundapura. # CHAKRAVARTHY CHANDRACHUD TO TELL AN UNTOLD STORY WITH BHEEMI

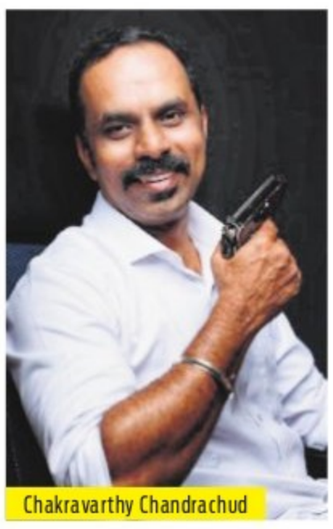
The film will have theatre artiste Sridhar Ram, making his silver-screen debut

CE FEATURES

Chakravarthy Chandrachud, post his stint at the reality show Bigg Boss Kannada season 8, is back to focusing on his acting and directorial assignments. Having completed his portions for Aravind Kaushik's Gone Case, Chandrachud is gearing up to play a cop in Vasishta's directorial, Madhyantara, which is set to go on floors in September first week.

He is also preparing to wield the megaphone for a film titled Bheemi and has brought on board Sridhar Ram to play the lead. The latter is a theatre artiste from the Benaka team, who will be making his silver screen debut with the film.

The director of films like Janma and a Tamil film Thambi Oorku Pudhusu has yet again picked a unique and untold story. "There are a few villages across India with only women. Men aren't allowed there. One such village exists in Karnataka too. These villages also have their traditions and rituals. I have explored a crime story in such a setting," says Chandrachud.



Chakravarthy Chandrachud

Sudeep launched the first-look poster of the film, and the director plans to begin the shoot on September 18. "The film is going to be a dark comedy with few limited actors, and everyone hails from a theatre background," says Chandrachud, adding, "I am glad to be touching a rarest of rare subjects for which I have written the script, screenplay, and dialogues."

Bheemi is bankrolled by Babu Reddy and has music by Veer Samarth. Paramesh will make his debut as a cinematographer with this film. Chandrachud also said his other upcoming film I am Kalki is in the making and updates about the same will be revealed soon.

EVEN AMITABH BACHCHAN CAN'T SAVE THIS TRAINWRECK OF A CHAMBER DRAMA

CHEHRE

Cast: Amitabh Bachchan, Emraan Hashmi, Annu Kapoor, Krystle D'Souza

Director: Rumi Jaffery

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

With theatres reopening for the first time in four months, I chose Chehre to mark my return to the hallowed halls. The screening got delayed by 15 minutes, and I should have regarded it as a bad omen. By the time the film moved to its last 15 minutes, Lateef Zaidi (Amitabh Bachchan) was in a full-blown diatribe against the law of the courts, and the video stopped playing. The theatres, it seems, are still getting used to playing films. It was another sign. However, we had to endure the pointless preachy monologue once more. It's a promising film that capitulates under the weight of its own incredulity.

Rumi Jaffery's directorial revolves around four retired men of the law—Amitabh Bachchan, Dhrithiman Chatterjee, Annu Kapoor, Raghubir Yadav—doling out their versions of justice to unsuspecting people, who stumble by their lonesome mansion. This time, that unsuspecting person turns out to be one Mr. Sameer Mehra (Emraan Hashmi), who inexplicably agrees to be part of their "game" which involves a mock trial that, as time progresses, makes a mockery of law and screenwriting. The premise feels farfetched, but even if we bought into the central conceit of the film, the writing (Ranjit Kapoor and Rumy) is so underwhelming that the frivolity of it all outweighs even the semblance of a wish to willingly suspend disbelief.

Long-winded conversations in a legal drama are par for the course, but this one has exactly ONE such conversation. No one, apart from an earnest but hapless Emraan, speaks in a non-legalese tone. At one point, Emraan's Sameer looks like the real-life version of the "Am I a joke to you?" meme, and you empathise with him. Nothing that happens around him makes sense... neither to him nor to us. In fact, at one point, Sameer says, "Main thak gaya hoon... Main pak gaya hoon," and I wanted to reach into the screen, give him a warm hug, and say, "We are on the same boat, brother." The dialogues are lacklustre, and if there were anything else at all to distract us, we might have been able to overlook this flaw. However, when all you have is a never-ending barrage of words delivered in various dialects and baritones, there is very little else to focus on.

RATING 1.5/5

The unfortunate thing about Chehre is the underutilisation of the promising central conceit. There are glimpses of ideas that have immense potential. Hariya Jatav's (Raghubir) casual demeanour fits nicely in the eclectic scheme of things. Krystle D'Souza's Natasha Oswal is a role that feels shoehorned into proceedings, and despite her committed portrayal, there is little about the entire portion that sits well with the rest of the film. While Rhea Chakraborty and Siddhant Kapoor are given interesting roles, their performances simply don't cut it. Chehre needed liberal doses of eccentricity for us to be invested consistently in its 139-minute runtime. However, almost every other actor of this stellar cast plays it all too straight.

When we first meet the three angry old men, they are waiting for the fourth, who they fear might be stuck in the storm. Annu quickly says something on the lines of, "Yeh isse bhi bade toofan dekhe hain." And it is only after this hat-tip to Toofan, the 1989 vigilante thriller, that we see an umbrella-holding Amitabh Bachchan walking into the house in slow-motion. Two decades since Big B stopped playing the typical commercial cinema hero, lines like these are still written for the OG Angry Young Man. While there is no doubt that it is impressive how writers continue to orchestrate films around this doyen of Hindi cinema, Chehre doesn't do justice to the talent at its service.
